

Warm Springs: How does your garden grow?

Tomatillos, great for Mexican dishes and sauces, are abundant in Merle Tewee's garden.

Difficult to vine ripen in other areas, Merle's cantaloupe flourished and matured this year.

Large jalapeños, also used in Mexican cooking, are almost ready for harvest.

This summer's weather may not have been the greatest for outdoor activities, but it sure was great for gardening. The cooler temperatures and extra rainfall made for ideal growing conditions, causing gardens to produce as never before.

Alvis Smith, Sr.'s ten-year-old nectarine tree was loaded with beautiful, dark-colored fruit this year. Alvis says the tree has produced fruit only once before.

Help for sorrow available

A Bereavement Recovery Seminar intended for people who have lost someone through death whether recently or some time ago is being sponsored by Mountain View Hospice. The free six week series will begin September 30 and run through November 4.

Great pain and many changes occur when you lose a loved one and bitterness and ill health can result. People in acute grief have a hospitalization rate six times that of the general population. Divorce will occur within one year for 50-80% of those couples who lose a baby.

Prolonged grief makes it difficult to resolve later losses. However, with support and growth through grief, healing is possible without these unwanted side-effects. Each weekly meeting will provide information that serves as a building block for the next session, as well as opportunity for discussion, questions, and fellowship.

The weekly 1 1/2 hour sessions will be held in Mountain View Hospital's lower level multipurpose room beginning at noon.

Pre registration for the Bereavement Recovery Seminar is required as space is limited.

Call Mt. View Hospital District Home Health/Hospice Volunteer Coordinator Mary Galen at 475-3882 extension 2310 to register.

Mountain View Hospital is located at the corner of 12th & "A" Streets in Madras. Convenient parking is available in the lots off of "A" Street.

New director joins COCC staff

The new director for the Warm Springs Central Oregon Community College Education Center is John Hicks. He is a Canadian, who, for the last 30 years, has lived in Oregon. John's association with Central Oregon reaches back 20 years in area wood products manufacturing. Prior to moving to Central Oregon he taught and coached primarily at the high school level in both private and public schools. Consequently, he feels that he has a realistic appreciation of the challenges faced in an educational setting and in the world of work.

John has only been on site since September 7 but in that hectic week he has been involved in a two-day education retreat at HeHe Longhouse and numerous trips to the college for training. He is very appreciative of the gracious reception and support he has already received. All transitions are taxing but the warmth of the response by the Warm Springs community he has met thus far has done much to ease the strain.

The Center is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. Please come by and introduce yourself to John. By the way, registration for fall classes is underway—an added incentive for dropping in to the Education Center.
