Title V funding threatened by proposed legislation

House of Representatives #3130, introduced by Representative Dale Kildee, and authored mainly by Alan Lovelee, would eliminate several Title V (Indian Education) programs, take away the most important duty of the Native American Coalition for Indian Education (NACIE) and require states to receive all grants prior to submission.

The National Indian Education Association (NIEA) presented a resolution to NACIE in June which would take the power to recommend the Director of Indian Education Program away from NACIE and put it into Personnel.

Most of the proposed changes, which are pro-state and anti-tribe, are sponsored by the NIEA, acting in concert with Lovelee. Members of NACIE have charged that the anti-NACIE resolution is illegal, that it was not approved by the NIEA membership, but only by the NIEA board.

The eight controversial changes are:

1. Elimination of the Title V Technical Assistance Center, and combining them with overall TA centers which would serve all programs.
2. Eliminate the Gifted and Talented program from Indian Education.
3. Eliminate grants to Title V programs which are under $4,000 and require small schools to join consortia with totals over $4,000.
4. States would have the authority to review all Title V applications before they are submitted.

5. The Indian Fellowship Program would be eliminated, all undergraduate fellowships would be eliminated and replaced with a graduate professional development program.

6. Grants from Title V monies would be made to states to enable them to develop statewide programs for Indian education.

7. NACIE would be removed from the selection process for the Director of the Office of Indian Education, to be replaced by the Personnel office.

8. The Director of OIEP would be required to be a member of the Senior Executive Service, thereby eliminating any outsiders from eligibility.

Interested persons are urged to write individual, hand-written letters to Representative William Ford, chairman of the Committee on Education and Labor, and to the other people listed above. Hand-written letters are best. Make comments personal and specific to individual situations. Ford's address is: 2107 Rayburn House Office Building, Washington, DC 20515.

Shewczyk dies in head-on collision October 22

By Bill Rhoades
Pioneer Editor

Central Oregon journalists lost a friend and a colleague on the evening of October 22, when Marsha Shewczyk, 46, was killed in a car accident on the south side of Madras.

A graduate of the University of Oregon with a degree in journalism, Shewczyk spent the past 13 years as a writer and photographer for the Spilyay Tymoo in Warm Springs. She also produced the 509-J newsletter and made significant contributions to the Confederated Tribes and Warm Springs Forest Products Industries annual reports.

Sports fans, parade goers and event followers in Madras and Warm Springs all recognized Shewczyk's long, brown hair and petite figure as she roamed the community with her Nikon in search of another news story.

She was killed in a head-on collision while returning home from classes at Central Oregon Community College in Bend, where she was taking advanced courses in science and math in hopes of someday using her combined skills to work in the environmental field. Shewczyk had a consuming passion for the outdoors. With her long-time boyfriend Don Ratliff, a biologist with Portland General Electric, she combed the West in search of adventure and the spiritually enriching beauty of nature.

Together Marsha and Don fished for halibut in Alaska, rafted the premier whitewater rivers of the
