

Fire destroys mobile home on Oitz Loop

The simple act of drying a load of clothes in an electric clothes dryer proved to be catastrophic early last week. The action caused a short in the electrical wiring of a mobile home on Oitz Loop Monday, February 7. Residents of the home were able to escape with no injuries, but the home, belonging to Angel Wells and rented by Dempson Polk, was a total loss.

Wells, Polk, and three children, ages seven months, four and seven years of age, have been left homeless and without the basic necessities. Donations, including adult, infant and childrens clothing and household items of all kinds are encouraged. Clothing needed includes T-Shirts size large, size medium stretch pants and jacket in size large for Polk; girls size 6x clothing and size 11 shoes; boys size 5-6 clothing and size 10-

Mobile home was destroyed by a fast-spreading fire February 7. Thankfully, no one was injured.

10 1/2 shoes; and infant clothing in 18 months and size large diapers. All household items, including blankets, bedding, towels, toys and other items are needed as well. Donations can be taken to the Early Childhood Education Center. Contact Wells or her family for her clothing and household needs. For further information contact Mernie Polk or Irene Wells or call the ECE center at 553-3240.

Palmer submits statement on fishing

Following is the text of an affidavit sworn by Warm Springs treaty fisherman Douglas R. Palmer of Lyle, Washington on January 12, in support of the Warm Springs motion to intervene.

I am an enrolled member of the Confederated Tribes of the Warm Springs Reservation of Oregon (Warm Springs Tribe), the applicant for intervention in the above entitled proceeding. My enrollment number is 0044.

My home is located in Lyle, Washington, where I have lived for the past 13 years. I live on 6th Street in Lyle, just across the railroad tracks from the "Klickitat Landing" subdivision development that is the subject of this litigation.

I make my living as a fisherman. My wife Margaret Palmer, an enrolled member of the Yakama Indian Nation, and our four children Avis, Douglas, Jr., Harriman, and Jay are all enrolled members of the Warm Springs Tribe. As a family we make our livelihood from exercising our treaty rights under the Warm Springs and Yakama 1855 treaties to fish at all of our usual and accustomed fishing places on the Columbia River and its tributaries. Lyle Point is one of our treaty reserved usual and accustomed fishing places.

In the course of exercising my

Warm Springs treaty fishing rights I have constructed three fishing scaffolds on the rocks next to the Columbia River at Lyle Point. These fishing scaffolds are located on property owned by defendant, Columbia River Gorge Ltd., that is part of the "Klickitat Landing" subdivision development. Recently, two of my scaffolds were torn down and thrown into the river. I don't know who did that, I rebuilt them and am continuing to fish from my scaffolds at Lyle Point. I have been fishing from scaffolds at Lyle Point since I moved to Lyle, Washington 13 years ago.

I also engage in gillnet fishing in the area around Lyle Point. There are a number of gillnet sites in the immediate vicinity of Lyle Point that I use during ceremonial and subsistence fishing seasons. I use the "Klickitat Landing" subdivision property to gain access to the river for my boat and to land my catch.

I am very concerned that the Klickitat Landing subdivision development, as approved by the Klickitat County Commission, will interfere with my treaty reserved right to gain access to and fish from my scaffolds at Lyle Point and my treaty right to gain access to and fish using gillnets in the area of Lyle Point.

Reprinted with the permission of Richard LaCourse of the Yakama Nation Review.

Williams, Ree to perform in Bend

Williams and Ree, the vocal/comedy duo also known as The Indian and the White Guy will appear at Bend High School Auditorium at 8:00 p.m. on Saturday, February 26, 1994.

Bruce Williams and Terry Ree began performing together while they were both attending Black Hills College in Spearfish, SD, working bars and college parties with their band. With only their 10 to 12 song repertoire, they discovered they needed to stretch in order to fill in time. And what better way than with some much needed comic relief? Soon their humor and comedy turned into a bigger draw than the band, hence the birth of The Indian and the White Guy.

A staple on The Nashville Network over the past few years, Williams and Ree have been regulars on Country Kitchen with Florence Henderson, increasing the ratings by more than 50% in the first year alone. They have also worked consistently on Hee Haw, as well as their own TNN telecasts entitled Laff TV with Williams and Ree.

The people who follow the career of Williams and Ree know that not only are they hysterically funny and totally in-tune with today's world, they are truly gifted musicians. Actually, in addition to their consistent nominations from TNN/Music City News Awards for Comedians of the Year, they have been nominated for Best Vocal Duo, as well.

In order to really experience the Williams and Ree phenomenon, a live performance is a necessity. Williams and Ree will be appearing on Saturday, February 26, at the Bend High School Auditorium for one performance only at 8:00 p.m. Tickets are now available.

Don't miss this opportunity to see Williams and Ree. Tickets are on sale at the Spotted Mule in Bend, Leavitt's Western Wear in Sisters, and Dairy Queen in Prineville.

Be fruitful; love, cherish, teach children

To the editor,

Genesis 1:28
Be fruitful and multiply...

Long ago someone said we must have babies because God told us to have babies...they took the 'multiply' of Genesis 1:28 from the Bible and they went to it. But you there is a lot of people now this earth. Why do we want kids??? I have heard a lot reasons, "It makes me a woman",

To Continue the family name of my fathers, "I want someone to love", "To be fulfilled", "To be a daddy", "To be a mommy". Well, all of these reasons are not good enough. They are not good enough because in the end that baby becomes less of a baby and more of a human being. Someone with feelings, emotions, dreams, hopes, etc. Then it becomes days of love and anger, peace and war. Days of not wanting to be a parent and feeling guilty about having those feelings.

The Bible verse starts off with be fruitful and multiply. Fruitful comes first. Fruitful, a word from the Bible that means-"bring forth, cause to be, make." To bring forth what!!! To multiply!!! No, there is no bring forth or cause to be in making a baby. It is a automated system. What about "cause to be" in the life of that baby. To "bring forth" from that child. It is my belief that having a baby in today's world is to take on the fruitful responsibility of raising that child to make the world better then my own efforts. To build on the past efforts of others who were fruitful in making our world a better place. The day comes quickly when that baby looks you in the eye and says NO. From that day on the time of your power and influence begins to drop as a parent. What is left is your baby to make the right choices for life.

Parents, be fruitful...LOVE AND TEACH YOUR CHILDREN WELL....
Pastor Rick, Warm Springs Presbyterian Church

Happy Birthday

Ms. Warm Springs

Merle Ann

From: Dad, Nancy, Mom, Sisters & your brothers

Tera Lynn

Have a very Happy 12th Birthday

From, Mom and Sisters

Happy Birthday
To Sister Nerd who will be
14 on February 23rd
Love always, Missy & Larry

Happy Birthday to our brat
Charlyne Spino
With love, Mom & Dad

Happy Birthday sister!
With love, Mia & Paleena

Happy Birthday
Becky!
Love, Louel, Willie & Jamie

Happy 3rd Birthday to our baby girl,
Colleen Marilyn Kalama
Love from mom, dad & sisters & brother.

Happy Birthday Colleen!
Love, Shanell, Mommy Tina & Papa

Myrna Courtney, left, listens as Dr. John Byrne speaks during luncheon at Education Center February 9.

Be safe

The week of February 6-12 was Burn Awareness Week. Did you know...

- The Oregon Burn Center admitted 257 citizens for burns in 1993;

- Seventy of these people were children and teenager;

- 149 were between the ages of 19-59;

- 38 were adults sixty years and older.

Here are a few safety tips to help prevent a serious burn injury in your home.

• Keep matches and lighters away from children.

• Set your water heater at 120 degrees F.

• Install tempering valves to regulate temperature and pressure in the waterline or bathtub faucet.

• Test bath water by moving your hand through the water several seconds before placing a child or getting into the bathtub.

• Don't leave young children alone in the bathroom or near portable appliances such as coffee pots, electric frying pans, etc.

• Keep young children occupied in another room while you are cooking.

• Turn pot handles inward when cooking so they can't be pulled down.

• Test all hot food and liquid before eating or drinking, especially if microwaved.

Children from the Early Childhood Education Center danced during inter-tribal of the mini powwow held at the Agency Longhouse February 11. Powwow was a warm up for the Lincoln's Birthday Powwow in Simnasho.

Ashley Davis owl dances with Brandon Thompson at the ECE mini powwow.