45th Annual Tygh Valley Rodeo packs 'em in

During the Tygh Valley All Indian Rodeo competition was very tough as times were very fast in the Steer Wrestling. Cowboys from all parts of the Western States gathered for the first WSIRA sanctioned rodeo.

The annual Ty-Wa-Ma All-Indian rodeo held at Tygh Valley, May 21-22, drew nearly 200 Indian contestants from all parts of the Western States and Canada for the first Western States All Indian Rodeo Association sanctioned show for the year. Many familiar names floated across the arena from Mike of the all popular rodeo announcer Jake Grossmiller, who has been there at the rodeo each year for the past several years.

This year Frank Paz was named the All-Around Champion, placing in both the rough stock and the timed events. Paz placed third in the bareback, split 2nd, 3rd, and 4th in the saddle bronc, and placed 2nd in the Steer Wrestling (Bulldogging), to give him enough points to claim the All-Around title.

With the weather which was ideal for a rodeo made the show much more a success where the crowd enjoyed the sun as well as the rodeo of top notch cowboys who are all looking toward that final rodeo in the autumn, the National Finals, which will be held in Rapid City, South Dakota, this year after several years being held in Albuquerque, N.M.

For many years the rodeo featured wild west rodeo stock directly from the range of the Warm Springs Reservation, but here the past few years there have been pro-stock being brought in, this year the D-D rodeo stock was contracted with the pick-up men Norm Durfey and Buster Bain.

The rodeo results as reported by Rodeo Secretary June Ashley, for the top three places in each event. First with the Girls Barrel Race.
