Preliminary work began about two weeks ago near Kah-Nee-Ta Lodge to make room for the gaming facility. Work on the temporary spot, in the current Wasco and Paiute Rooms, will begin April 11 with the opening set for May 1. The temporary facility will have nearly 150 machines. The permanent facility is expected to open late this summer. Frontier Construction is the primary contractor for the facility.

Popular SAR cadet program comes to an end

The popular Warm Springs 4-H Search and Rescue Cadet Program has come to an end. Organizer and leader Keith Baker said the decision to disband the group was made by program members Monday, March 20 and is based primarily on lack of funding.

Baker says it costs approximately $10,000 a year to operate efficiently, due to the high number of searches and rescues in which the group participates. The group has been called to searches and provided training to other search and rescue groups in Canada, California, Nevada, New Mexico, Mexico, Florida, New York and Alaska.

In 1994 alone, the group conducted 31 searches, helped start up the Wheeler County Search and Rescue Cadet program, participated in the Lake Billy Chinook Cleanup, introduced white water rescue to the Warm Springs Search and Rescue adult program, assisted in field instruction of survival and the outdoor portion of the Hunter Safety Course and was instrumental in obtaining assistance for the Warm Springs Search and Rescue dog Niki.

Starting in 1987, the group has seen the club's popularity grow. Some youth were not cut out for the rigorous training and meet scholastic goals set by club members and were ultimately excluded from the program. However, Baker says there are approximately 20 full-time members participating on a regular basis most of the time, ranging in age from six to 44.

Baker has much praise for program members. "They are the greatest...even to the point of being recognized as one of the best in the nation, as the 653rd Point of Light" under President George Bush. "Being the only Search and Rescue program in the United States to be put in the Congressional Record" is quite an accomplishment, says Baker. Sadly, lack of funding has brought the program to an end.

"The last seven-and-one-half years with these kids have been the best in my life," concluded Baker.

Health summer camp is offered

A five-day summer camp highlighting career opportunities in health and medical fields is being offered June 18 to 22 at Oregon Institute of Technology in Klamath Falls.

The camp is for Cascades East Area high school students who will be entering the 10th, 11th or 12th grades and are interested in learning more about health and medical careers. Approximately 50 students will be selected to attend.

Cascades East Area Health Education Center will sponsor the camp. Careers in Health Summer Camp will include health career information, hospital tours and opportunities to interact with a large variety of health professionals. Also included are meals, dormitory housing and other activities.

Applications are available from school career counselors and the Cascades East Area Health Education Center office. Completed applications must be received in the Cascades East AHEC office by May 1, 1995.

For more information, contact Cascades East AHEC at 884-0602

Frank, Sanders complete FCL training at KNT

Two Warm Springs women Priscilla Frank and Shirley Sanders, were among the 125 FCL participants trained during the Family and Community Leadership State Training Institute held at Kah-Nee-Ta March 7-9. Other participants from Jefferson County Mary Bosch of Metolius, Alice Hensley of Antelope and Liz Blann of Madras. This is the second year that the training has been held at Kah-Nee-Ta because previous participants learned so much from the cross-cultural experience on the reservation.

The FCL training is held every year to develop the leadership skills that help families and communities to become active in expressing needs and wants of local people in the policy making. The four day event began in February with Stage 1 about Group Processes, and how groups of people change as they become more acquainted with each other and learn to work together. Stage 1 was followed by reading assignments on other Leadership Skills about Creating and Sharing an Agenda, Brainstorming and important skills that keep the group moving toward a goals to solve problems and generate community involvement. An important part of the FCL training was the Action Groups which shared knowledge with 14-18 trainees. Since the trainees come from all over Oregon and from many professions, they have experiences to share with the Warm Springs staff. For Warm Springs they gain lots by introducing the trainees to the inner working of the tribal organizations and departments.

The eight action groups included Eunice Esquiro and Verleen Kalama of Work Experience; Helena Jones, School Liaison of Warm Springs Elementary School; Bob Jackson and William Moses about Self Sufficiency Developments at General Assistance Program; Arlene Boileau of the new 4-H Cloverbuds Program; Arlita Rhoan of the Housing department about improving housing situations; John Hicks and Marilyn Hart of COCC about meeting educational needs here; and from the Health and Wellness Center, Lillian January and other nutritionists about reaching more people with nutrition information and Nancy Collins about the new Recycling program on the reservation.
