

Warm Springs Plaza shops open; business is "boomin"

The Warm Springs Plaza has had three arts & crafts shops open since May 1995. Wy-East Beads & Gifts, Thunderhawk Indian Arts & Crafts, and L & L Reddog Fine Arts are now open to the public.

Thunderhawk Indian Arts & Crafts, owned and operated by Archie Caldera has been open since May 11, 1995, for seven days a week. Caldera has been busy operating his shop during the day, and making more crafts during the evening when he gets home. He says business is good for him, people are buying a lot of dream catchers and jewelry. He also does special orders. His shop phone number is 553-5833. Stop by and see Archie.

Wy-East Beads & Gifts is a retail and wholesale shop that has been open since May 19, 1995. It is owned and operated by Teresa and Bill Howe. Wy-East is selling many crafts, silver jewelry, and beads to make your own crafts. Howe says their shop is doing well, with the exception of some slow days. Many people are just curious about the building and stop to look.

L & L Reddog Fine Arts has opened its doors May 19, 1995. Their craft store has oil paintings on canvas, jewelry, dream catchers, and many other crafts. Owners are Minnie and Patrick Reddog.

Indian Trail Restaurant and Drive Thru has not opened as of today. Owner, Richard Macy, has set the date for June 28 to open to the public. Renovations are not yet complete.

Archie Caldera is the owner and operator of Thunderhawk Arts & Crafts in the new Plaza. His business is doing well.

Stedder. Stedder had until June 16 to consent to a trial, either with or without a jury, before the Magistrate or before a US District judge. If he opts for a trial before the US District Judge, Stedder will go to trial on August 7 or 8. If he decides to be tried before the Magistrate, his trial will be held July 21 in Warm Springs.

Historically, non-Indians who commit misdemeanor crimes against Indians on the Reservation are exempt from criminal prosecution in Oregon state courts, as was proven in a Jefferson County District Court opinion, handed down by Judge George Neilson, last year (State of Oregon v. Francisco Sanchez).

Additionally, the United States has limited its prosecution of cases arising on the Reservation to major crimes and has had no forum, prior to passage of tribal Resolution 9066, to try misdemeanor cases. These cases occur when the offender is a non-Indian, the victim is an Indian and the offense occurred on an Indian reservation.

The result of the Sanchez opinion has been to vest sole and exclusive criminal jurisdiction over non-Indian misdemeanor defendants to the United States through the Magistrate Court.

Warm Springs Tribal Court Judges, Warm Springs Public Safety Branch members, US Attorney for the District of Oregon and the US District Court for the District of Oregon recommended that the federal court establish a Magistrate court calendar for one to two days per month on the Warm Springs Reservation to handle non-Indian misdemeanor prosecutions. The Magistrate would adjudicate only the non-Indian misdemeanor cases that are not otherwise handled civilly by the Warm Springs Tribal Court. Public Safety Branch manager Anita Jackson explained this does not "take away from tribal court" nor does it encroach on tribal sovereignty, but rather, "adds another layer of protection for the people here."

The Warm Springs Magistrate Court will be the first in the United States to provide a trial forum to litigate non-Indian misdemeanor prosecutions and will allow the United States to exercise its trust responsibility without diminishing the sovereign powers of the Warm Springs tribe.

The cost of federal court proceedings will be covered by the US Attorney's office. When necessary, legal representation for non-Indian misdemeanor defendants will be provided either by the Federal Defender's Office or by an attorney appointed and paid for by the federal court. If the Warm Springs Police department takes a non-Indian defendant into custody, then the police department will be responsible for transporting the defendant to the first Magistrate court proceeding. If the defendant is further detained by the Magistrate, then the US Marshal's office will take custody of the individual.

The District Court clerk's office will provide sound recording equipment as well as provide funds to hire and train a qualified tribal member to act as a part-time bailiff and in-court deputy clerk for Magistrate court proceedings. The clerk's office will also secure funds to purchase computers, courtroom recording and other audio visual support equipment that can be utilized by the Tribal Court whenever the Magistrate court is not in session.

The Tribe will not be asked to assist in enforcing sentences or supervision conditions imposed by the federal court other than routine cooperative efforts now in effect.

It is anticipated that the Magistrate court would convene one to two days per month at Warm Springs to handle such cases. However, this number could increase in light of increasing drug enforcement efforts and the influx of visitors to the gaming facility. Two additional drug-related cases are scheduled to be heard Friday, July 14.

In their recommendation to Tribal Council, proponents stated that prosecution of misdemeanor drug cases in federal Magistrate court would greatly assist in the Tribe's efforts in reducing the number of drug offenses on the Reservation. Such prosecutions in the Warm Springs Magistrate court will send a strong message to the community that the Tribe is serious about dealing with non-Indian offenders. A federal conviction will follow the offender wherever he or she goes.

Prosecution of non-Indian misdemeanor cases in the Magistrate court "adds another layer of protection" for Warm Springs people.

Comprehensive Plan being updated, member input needed

Several planning teams have begun updating information from the 1983 Comprehensive Plan. They plan to start community meetings as early as July or August to get tribal member input.

The first step in the process will identify changes since the 1983 plan was adopted and will include drafts of updated goals for the membership to review. In the second step of the process, planning teams will build action plans to address the goals.

Planning teams include Education, Culture and Heritage; Health and Recreation; Housing; Infrastructure and Facilities; Transportation and Land Use; Tribal Government; Public Safety; Natural Resources (IRMP) and Economic Development.

"There was a feeling of tribal member ownership of the Plan in the early '80s," stated COO Mike Clements, "... and we want to maintain that with the people. At the same time, we want to make the Plan more accountable and action-oriented by connecting it with annual operating plans and measurement tools," he added. More information on the process can be obtained in the Planning Department.

Summer Food Program to begin

The Summer Food Service Program is a USDA child nutrition program offering meals to children in camps, parks recreation programs, migrant sites, and other areas where large numbers of children are involved in activities where meals are needed. The program is being offered through the Warm Springs Community Center/Recreation Program to all children 18 years old or younger. Lunch will be served to all children beginning Monday, June 26, through August 11. Meals will be served from 11:45 a.m. to 1:30 p.m., Monday through Friday. The Summer Food Service Program will operate under the following USDA regulations.

- Meals will be served to children only. No adults will be served.
- All children 18 years old or younger will receive meals at no cost to them.

- Children will be served the complete meal. (If they do not want a wrapped food item they may place the item on a special table.)

- Meals must be eaten at the Community Center, in the Social Hall. No food may leave the meal site.

- Children will be served only one meal (children may eat the wrapped food items from the special table should they want additional food).

- Lunch will be served from 11:45 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Meals will not be served before or after this time schedule.

The Summer Food Service Program is a children's program and adults may not share food from a child's meal. If a child is too young to eat the entire meal, wrapped food may be placed on the special table or the uneaten portion of the meal must be thrown away.
