Summer Bridge class prepares students for college

Kevin Dye was an instructor for the Summer Bridge classes held at the Education Center during the summer to prepare college-bound students for college level classes. He is also Director of the Native American Program at Central Oregon Community College to help Native American students adjust to COCC.

Dye received his Masters degree at Western Washington University and now teaches American Indian Literature and writing courses at COCC. He will teach three courses on Northwest Indian Literature this winter here in Warm Springs. This year marked the third year Dye taught developmental English for Summer Bridge Warm Springs. His goal is to get some of these Summer Bridge students to come back to teach this class.

Summer Bridge began in 1992, and was created by Geoff Bury and Julie Quaid. Students going to college are required to take this course to make sure they are ready for college before they are sent. Students learn developmental math and English that are actual college classes. They learn study habits, demands of college life and just figure out what college is going to be like. Geoff Bury instructs math.

Ten students attended the 1995 Summer Bridge classes. "Last year ten finished Summer Bridge classes, eight of them went to college and eight succeeded at college," Dye said proudly.

Last year Dye, with the help of Maury Jimenez, got the COCC Native American Program going again. After years without the program, Dye decided to ask about starting it up again and college officials appointed him Director of the Program. This program is once again available to help Native American students adjust to COCC, and life in Bend, to help with travel, scholarships, academic advising and cultural activities.

This year the Native American Program held their Spring Salmon Festival in May with the help of Tribal Council. He received help from Wendell Jim and Pierson Mitchell and guest speaker Evaline Pitt from the Warm Springs Education Committee.

Dye would like to commend students who attended the 1995 Summer Bridge classes for working hard and completing Summer Bridge and beginning their college careers.

Summer Bridge graduates are ready for college. Students honored with barbecue at Elmer Quinn Memorial Park August 9.

Camp Sapsikwat was great; thanks!

To the editor,
We really wanted the Culture Camp Sapsikwat to last longer. We could have learned more and finished my yarn bag. Even if it was hot we got treats (popsicles) the food was good, the subjects well selected. We camped one night.

Charlotte Herkshan was real good to all of us too. She reminds us of our grandma Neda Wesley. Captain was a lot of help in teaching us using kid language. Lots of times teachers used language too difficult for us. Especially to my lil brothers Curtiss and Theodore.

Our grandma said Indian language is important. We think so too.

Anyway, we just want to say thank you to all the staff Char, Myra, captain, Phyllis, Enie, Arlita, Grandma Mary Ann Meanus, Pierson, Grandmas Neda and Charlotte S.

Can't wait for next year.

Lucinda Stwyer, Martina Stwyer, Jamey Wesley, Curtiss Dickson, Theodore Stwyer-Greene

Meridith, We wish you a happy birthday August 20 From Carrol and Wayne, Wes, Mark, Mom, JT, and Avery

Coquille to host first powwow

On September 8-10, The Mill Casino will host the Coquille tribe's first annual Mill-Luck Powwow in North Bend, Oregon. This will be the first powwow for the southwest Oregon tribe since gaining federal recognition on June 28, 1989. The event is expected to attract many seasoned dancers as well as first-time spectators to the scenic Oregon coast.

The powwow will feature a cash payout of $35,000 to the dancers and drummers from throughout the United States and Canada. The men dancers will compete in three categories (traditional, fancy bustle and grass dancing) in adult, teen and kids age divisions. In the same age divisions, the women will compete in jingle dress, fancy shawl and traditional dancing. Dave Brown Eagle of Spokane, Washington will be the Master of Ceremonies and Arena Director will be Raymond "Captain"

Moody, of Warm Springs. Host drums for the powwow include Black Lodge, Seekaskootch and Southern Cree.

The hospitality of the Coquille Tribe is guaranteed to keep participants and spectators alike looking forward to the next annual event. Ties will be established between Coquille tribal members and members of other tribes that are sure to carry on long after the last drum beat of the powwow is heard.

Happy birthday Jr. Polk August 22 from Carrol and Wayne, Wes, Marc, Mom, JT, Avery and Meridith

Single-car accident claims infant

On July 30, 1995 at approximately 9:12 p.m., the Warm Springs Police Department received several phone calls advising of a motor vehicle accident on Highway 3 near the Sunnyside Housing subdivision.

Officers responded to Highway 3 and Sunnyside to find that the vehicle involved in the accident was upside down in the middle of the highway with an adult female, Lucinda Heath, trapped inside. Her nine-month-old daughter, Martina Olney, was found lying outside of the vehicle. Warm Springs Fire and Safety personnel arrived to extricate Heath from the wreckage. After being removed from the vehicle, Heath was transported to Mountain View Hospital in Madras and then air-lifted to St. Charles Medical Center in Bend. The infant was pronounced dead at the scene.

The cause of the accident is still under investigation.
