Thank you for supporting my D.C. trip

To the Editor,

This letter is to all the people who supported me in all the fundraisers that we did for my trip to Washington, D.C.

The very first person I would like to thank is the Field Director for Warm Springs Salmon Corps, David Lucei, for encouraging me to do the essay and getting all my fundraisers together, especially the raffle drawing. You've been behind me all the way and that means a lot.

My Salmon Corps co-workers for helping me with my first car wash we had. Also, I would like to thank my family and friends here in Warm Springs, my mom Nola Queahpama, my sisters Louella Heath-Bagley and Jessie Adams, David and Becky Lucei, Emily Lucei, Britton Metrokin, Larry Holliday and Gene and Nena Harvey for taking packets and selling the raffle tickets for my raffle.

I would like to thank Wendy Gerlitz from CRITFC in Portland for taking a packet and selling tickets for the raffle. We had a BBQ fundraiser on Friday before I left. I would like to thank all the people who got involved and helped in that, like Kate Jackson and Mary Danzuka for volunteering their time.

And last but not least, the car wash we had on Saturday, the weekend before I left. I would like to thank my dad Lloyd Adams, my nephew Nathan Berry, my sisters Louella and Jessie, my little brother Oscar and David Lucei. I would like to thank all the people who donated items for my raffle drawing and to all that had bought tickets. A thank you to Spilyay staff and to KWSO staff for advertising my fundraisers in the paper and on the radio.

I enjoyed my trip to Washington, D.C. It was a once in a lifetime thing for me and I will never forget it. We raised a total of $1,203.50 out of all the fundraisers that we did. I can't name all the people who were involved but, again, I thank all of you for supporting me.

Tenth Annual Symposium to be held in October

The Intertribal Agriculture Council (IAC) will hold their Tenth Annual National Indian Agriculture Symposium in Green Bay, Wisconsin at the Radisson Inn on September 30 through October 4, 1996. The Symposium is being hosted by the Oneida Nation of Wisconsin with support from the IAC Minneapolis Area Member Tribes. "America's First Farmers," is the IAC's Symposium theme and will focus on it as well as celebrating ten years of work and progress for the IAC.

Each year the IAC produces a Symposium dedicated to the enhancement of Indian agriculture. American Indian leaders, farmers and ranchers across the continental United States and Alaska will be in attendance. This is an informational meeting on agricultural issues and services available to Indian Country. IAC Symposium attendees will have an opportunity to find out more about national and regional agricultural activities, and how the IAC's efforts assists them with their own agricultural projects and enterprises. It also provides the IAC member Tribes an opportunity to discuss concerns relative to agriculture and natural resources, conduct business, and adopt policy resolutions for the coming year.

A Trade Show and Market will be held in conjunction with the IAC Symposium. Tribes, tribal enterprises, agriculture related businesses, and artisans from across the United States are encouraged to exhibit and promote their work and products. The Trade Show and Market provides a unique opportunity to see and purchase agricultural products as well as arts and crafts that are produced by American Indians from around the United States. The trade show and market is open to the public and there is no charge to attend.

The IAC is an organization, chartered in 1987, with 84 dues-paying member Tribes, who together control more than 80% of the 54 million acres owned by Indian people and Indian Tribes in the contiguous United States, and approximately half of the 44 million acres in Alaska. It is governed by a board of Directors composed of elected tribal representatives from each of the twelve regions of Indian Country, reflecting the diverse character of Indian agriculture. The IAC is active primarily in promoting the conservation, development and use of Indian resources for the betterment of Indian people. Each year the IAC produces a Symposium dedicated to the enhancement of Indian Agriculture and based on past activity, the IAC estimates the attendance this year to be over 400 persons.

Information on this year's Symposium or the IAC may be obtained by contacting the IAC at 100 North 24th Street, Suite 500 Billings, Montana 59101, (406) 259-3525.

Saturday, August 10, was a very lucky day for tribal member Sarah Thompson. Sarah picked eight numbers, which won her $15,000 playing keno at Indian Head Gaming. Sarah and her husband Curtis Thompson are unsure of what they will do with the winnings. The winning numbers that Sarah picked were 13, 20, 24, 33, 42, 61, 62 and 73.

Howlak Tichum Rowena Begay

Rowena Begay, age 30, died August 5, 1996 due an auto accident on Highway 26. Begay was born to Tom and Fern (Queahpama) Begay on October 16, 1965 in Prineville, Oregon.

Ms. Begay was an enrolled member of the Confederated Tribes of Warm Springs Reservation. She also was a lifetime resident. She liked to do beadwork, attend powwows and rodeos. She enjoyed roping, barrel racing and horseback riding and dancing. She was employed as a Deputy Clerk for the Tribal Court at the time of her accident and worked for the Confederated Tribes of Warm Springs in different departments throughout the past years.

Survivors include her parents, a son Atcity Nez Begay, brothers Anson and Tom Begay Jr., sister Fawn M. Begay, all of Warm Springs; an aunt Ethel Begay and her family of New Mexico.

Dressing ceremonies were held 4 p.m. on Wednesday, August 7 at the Simnasho Longhouse. Overnight services were held with Wilson Wewa and Pierson Mitchell officiating. Burial was Thursday, August 8 at the Simnasho Cemetery following services held at 8 a.m.

Trio ninth in standings

On the Fourth of July weekend Vernon Squiemphen, Marty Pindo and Kenny Linden won their second first place buckles at the Fourth of July Rodeo at Mollalla, winning their other buckle at a Salem Rodeo, in May.

This is their first year together and the team is in ninth place in the Wild Horse Race Association standings.
