Road closures noted

The W110 (BIA Route 17) has been closed to traffic between its junction with the W300 and W114 roads. The road that is closed lies west of Highway 26 near Butte Creek.

The road was damaged last February during the flood and erosion has continued to be a problem. Butte Creek has been subject to heavy sediment loads due to the erosion and ongoing impacts forced resource managers to impose the closure.

Temporary repairs were made to the W110 road in order to minimize affects on the creek and surrounding environment, but permanent repairs cannot be made until next spring. The decision to close the road prior to the season's first rainfall will lessen any impacts which might have resulted from allowing traffic to use the road through the winter.

The bridge over Shitike Creek near the old boy's camp is still out and will not be replaced until next summer. The Bridge, a part of the B200 road was washed out during the February flood. The road on both sides of the bridge remains open.

Retiree honored

A party was held at Kah-Nee-Ta Resort August 14 to honor Junior LeClaire after 28 years of service. Warm Springs resident and tribal member LeClaire started working at Kah-Nee-Ta Resort on December 12, 1967 as the Village maintenance supervisor. Before retiring Junior worked as the maintenance foreman, but for many years he also worked in almost every department at the resort. Junior was Kah-Nee-Ta's longest term employee and will be missed as a co-worker and as a good friend.

Sparky's corner

Talk about a hot summer....and I don't necessarily mean just the weather!! The Simnasho Fire was a major incident. Complete with nationwide media coverage. I am also sad to say that the fire, although still under investigation, was probably man-made. The Simnasho Fire consumed over 113,000 acres and 10 homes. I am thankful however, that no lives were lost. Some folks that are not used to witnessing the destructive forces of a wildland fire got to see first hand how powerful fire can be. It is truly a living, breathing, destroying force. For anyone that would like to learn more about fire behavior and what you can do to protect yourselves and your property please contact Fire & Safety. Our personnel will be happy to help you become more informed about the forces of fire. I believe that if we as a community, have a better understanding of the hows and whys of fire behavior we can be better prepared to protect ourselves and our homes if the need arises. I for one hope that another fire of that magnitude does not come around in a loooooong time. I almost got my spots singed off!!!

I would like to thank all of our beloved "fire pups" (fire cadet) for the outstanding job that they all did this summer. Helpfulness and dedication to their job. A big thank you and Sparky hug to John Courtney, Levi Dowty, Paul Martinez, Sheena Stevens, Jessie Esquiro, Jenny Langnese, Joie Simtustus and to our intern Lynn Chavez. Lynn has recently been accepted into the apprenticeship program. During this time she will obtain her Basic Firefighter, Firefighter I and EMT Basic Certification. Lynn has chosen fire/EMS as the profession she would like to pursue. I know she will succeed with flying colors. Our whole department, Fire & Safety has been busy, busy, busy with both medical and fire related incidents. If any one out there would like to become a Fire & Safety volunteer please drop on by the fire hall and fill out an application. Its a rewarding and exciting profession. So if you would like to help others and feel good about what you are doing, please come on down!!! Our department really relies on our volunteers since we have only ONE medic on duty at each station. Most of the calls that we respond to require at least two if not three people at the scene and if its a fire, well, we need a lot more than three!!!!!! Well, gotta run for now, until next time. Stay safe and be fire smart.

Sparky,
The fire dog

I disagree..

To the editor,
I am a fellow people, I want to let each eligible Warm Springs Enrollee voter know that Jason Suarez who is listed on the upcoming adoption list is using my Stacona blood to try and be adopted into the Warm Springs Tribe is doing so without my consent nor my family's approval. I cannot tell you how to vote but to just let you know that I do not approve of this and that I have never signed for this to happen.

Thank you.

On-line webnet offered

Chinook, World Wide Web Catalog of Native American Arts, Crafts and Food Products went on-line September 4, paving the Indian highway on the Internet. The effort is creating opportunity for economic expansion in Indian Country by linking high-technology with tradition and culture. It is a project of the Oregon Native American Business and Entrepreneurial Network (ONABEN). Its business purpose is to enable artists to increase sales and profits without expensive travel.

Chinook is creating market opportunities for artists by providing them exposure to Internet users around the world and will accept their payment for products and services by credit card. Categories include baskets, dolls, jewelry, masks and carvings, paintings, mixed media, Native foods, prints and posters, sculpture, weaving and traditional arts (cradleboards, drums, flutes, teepee, etc.)

Chinook requires that all products be handmade and produced by or offered by a Native American or tribal organization. Products must be unique or have an original design and be suitable for the product's usual and customary life, use or function with a minimum retail value of $75. Artists who subscribe will have their photo placed directly on the Web, a brief biography and a list of the work offered. The products are listed with a photo, brief description, shipping cost and estimated time it will take for delivery.

ONABEN's On-Line Catalog Coordinator Laura Nihoa explains, "For example Mrs. Grant of Tennessee sees a photo on the web of Laina Green's drums. She places an order with her American Express (or Mastercard or Visa). We receive the order and verify funds. The order is good and we notify Laina that she has sold two painted drums. As soon as she delivers the drums to ONABEN or a designated shipper, we write Laina a check for her work. The drums are then shipped to Mrs. Grant".

Chinook invites all artists with entrepreneurial spirit and wanting to expand their present business minus the additional overhead cost, to join the high-technology world of Chinook's World Wide Web Catalog of Native American Arts, Crafts and Food Products. Arts interested in being included on the web pay a one-time fee of $25 per category listing.

If you would like a packet of information or wish to set an appointment with our Retail Manager Judy Trotter, please contact Laura Nihoa (e-mail: nihoa@ortel.org) at Chinook/ONABEN, phone 503-243-5015 or 1-800-8289, fax 503-243-5028. Chinook's Website address is <http://www.ortel.org/ONABEN>.
