Gordon Cannon Superintendent FOREST MANAGEMENT DEDUCTIONS (10% Fund)

The Bureau of Indian Affairs is required to withhold 10% of the receipts received for timber harvested from Indian trust land (25CFR 163.18). These withholds are termed Forest Management Deductions". In 1972, the Bureau adopted procedures which allowed these Forest Management Deductions to be used to reimburse the tribes that expend funds in the management of their forest resources.

Expenditures programmed to manage and/ or improve any natural resource found in the forest qualify for this reimbursement. In addition, programs to train or educate Tribal members to assume more management responsibility of their Forestry program would qualify. Any Forest Management Deduction funds not expended on forest management work within five years of collection would be deposited into the Federal treasury as miscellaneous receipts.

To receive reimbursement for expenses incurred in their forest management program, the Tribe needs to submit a budget to the Bureau identifying these program expenses. This budget needs to be supported by an approving resolution from the Tribe. After these documents are submitted to the Bureau, the Tribe is eligible to receive reimbursement for their budgeted expenditures.

1997 FOREST

MANAGEMENT DEDUCTION BUDGET

FOREST RESOURCE INVENTORY AND PLANNING

This budget is again placing a high priority on Forest Resource Inventory and Planning. In 1996, 50,000 acres of forest stand exams were completed. This year funding is requested to complete another 25,000 acres. This will further improve our data base as we prepare our mid-course correction calculations for the IRMP. Our strategy is to accomplish the following projects:

1. 6,000 acres of formal stand examina-

2. 19,000 acres of walk-through stand

The objective of the planting program is to regenerate all even-aged harvest units and other forested areas that are under-stocked or inadequately stocked.

In 1997, these funds will plan' approximately 727 acres with 327,000 seedlings.

Stocking surveys are done in the 1st, 2nd, and 6th year on every plantation, or until the plantations are certified as regenerated.

In 1997, stocking surveys will be done on approximately 11,280 acres. Most of this work is now done by Tribal member contractors.

Down payments will be made for seedlings grown in nurseries and scheduled for field planting in 1998 and 1999.

The planting program will continue to utilize the Forest Crew and to solicit additional interest from more Tribal members in contracting this type of work.

AMOUNT BUDGETED $175,300 JEFFERSON & SIMNASHO FIRE REFOR ESTATION

Every effort is being made to acquire Federal funds to cover the reforestation costs from last summer's major fires. However, this line item is being established to cover any reforestation costs that may not be covered by Federal funds. We believe it is very important to get trees re-established on this ground and having these contingency funds available will ensure it happens in a timely manner.
