Ikks-Mi-Yunus-Ma-Mi-Pi-Um Powwow celebrates children

"Ikks-Mi-Yunus-Ma-Mi-Pi-Um," Little Children's Powwow was held May 30, 1997 at the Agency Longhouse.

Powwow started with Grand Entry prior to Invocation. An Intertribal dance was performed, then the little girls danced the butterfly dance. The little boys did the sneak up dance.

In appreciation for their help in their child's classroom parents received gifts from the Head Start teachers and children.

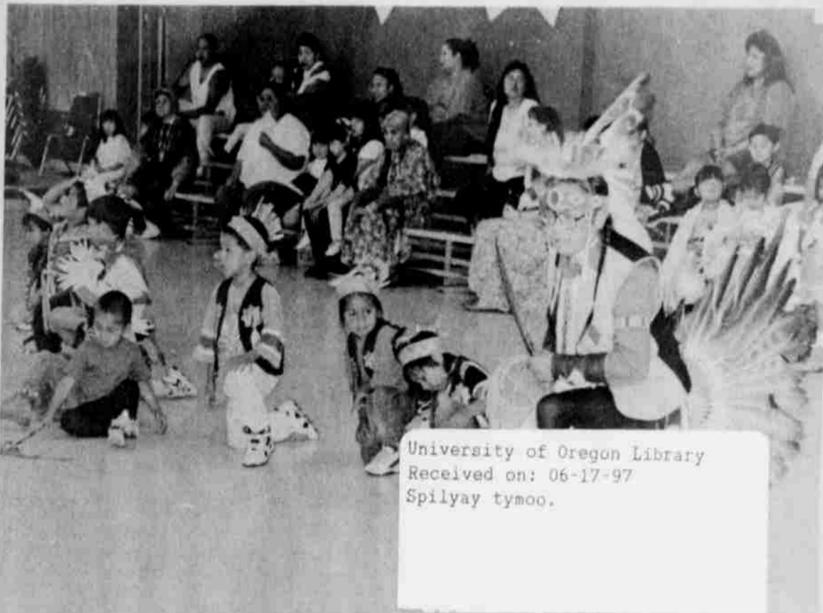

The children gathered to do the Upi-Upi dance, three round dances and an Eel dance before the powwow concluded.

During the powwow a special gift was presented to Winona Frank in recognition of her recent accomplishment. She was nominated and chosen, Teacher of the Year at the Oregon Indian Education Association conference held in Portland, Oregon. She also has a chance to become Teacher of the Year at the National Indian Education Association in Tacoma, Washington November 2-6, 1997.

Frank's was nominated by the Education Committee and Johnson' O Malley Committee. She has been a teacher for the Head Start Program since 1967, since Head Start came to be.

Bernice Mitchell remembers when she worked with Frank at the Community Center Head Start classrooms, before the new building. Mitchell quoted Frank, "I will never become a teacher." But she continued to teach the Head Start classrooms and enjoyed it. In 1992 she received her CDA to teach. Mitchell remembers, "she was so proud of herself."

The Head Start teachers bought her a Pendleton coat in appreciation of all her years as a Head Start teacher and to recognize her award for Teacher of the Year.

Mandatory higher education meeting set

There will be a mandatory higher education orientation on Thursday, June 19, 1997. It is important to all students who wish to be funded during the 1997-98 school year to attend this information-sharing workshop.

Going to college? Read on

Are you expecting to go to college in the fall? Have you talked with Tribal higher education?

Summer Bridge—What is it? To whom does it apply? Do I have to attend?

Summer Bridge is an eight-week college credited class to help students prepare for college. This environment will expose students to a realistic participation at attending college. This foundation will help students develop skills to survive in a college atmosphere, class timing and workload. Classes include developmental coursework in math, reading, writing and computer training.

Students that need to attend are traditionally high school seniors who are graduating, GED graduates and individuals who are interested in completing their education.

Classes will be held Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 12 noon at the Education Center starting June 23. In addition, most students work jobs in the afternoon.

To apply, make an appointment to see the higher education counselor, Laurain Hintsala by calling 553-3311. Tribal scholarships are available for this program to those students who are eligible but are limited to 25 participants.

If you're planning on going college, make sure you know what your responsibilities are to become eligible for tribal higher education. Call 553-3311 today.

Topics to be discussed will be:

1. Higher education guidelines
2. Student Success Strategies
3. Summer Bridge
4. Native American Teacher Education Program (NATEP)
5. Introduction of higher education staff

Bring your ideas, suggestions, concerns and questions on higher education to this workshop.

The deadline for submitting applications for financial assistance from the Tribal educational grant program (scholarship program) is Tuesday, July 1, 1997. Returning/continuing students need to fill out this application as well. Students who miss this deadline will not get funded in the fall and will be placed on a waiting list.

Please call the higher education office at 553-3311 to sign up for the workshop and/or to obtain more information on higher education.

Winona Frank received a gift from fellow Head Start teachers. Frank was selected Teacher of the Year by the Oregon Indian Education Association.
