Children are the ones suffering

To the editor,
I am writing this letter to express my feelings to my children and grandchildren. First, I want to tell you how much I love and care for you and just how much pain and tears you are causing me. I cry tears everyday, missing my grandchildren.
When you were babies, I put you first and took care of you the best way I could. When you couldn't care for your babies when they came along, I stepped in to do what I could to make sure they had someone to love, feed and care for them. My darling, beloved grandchildren.
To my grandchildren, Grandma loves you very much and always will. No one can take that from me ever.
To my children, I say maybe one day you will grow up enough to realize just how much you've hurt me with your behavior. Life is too short.

We should treasure each day we have with one another. Tomorrow may hold tears and sadness. We only have each other. Make the most of each day.
Don't use your children as pawns to hurt me. They're the ones suffering. Keeping them from me is only depriving them of the love, hugs and affection I give them freely and always. Children are innocent. Their love is unconditional and they love for love's sake and because I'm their Gramma. they know they're loved by me.
If you're angry at me then let's keep it between us and/or work things out. But please let my grandchildren come see me when they want. I need to see them too. My lil angels. Mamma's and children are something special as Gramma's and Grandkids are a gift from heaven.

Member Wanna-bees. I myself provided my services in the kitchen and attended meetings and witnessed their strategies. Children of my family were included. They did not gain enough votes in the referendum but I learned later that the Tribal Council enrolled them. I don't know whether to thank Council or wonder why the costly referendum?
Is this not the second time Council has done this? All we heard at the meetings put on by the families during the meetings and dinners were "What we will do IF we get enrolled". We were told that a gratitude dinner would follow. I offered my services again. I am still waiting to help you new enrollees. I do want to thank Marci Clements who did practice her tradition during those times.

Thank you staff and community

To the editor,
I would like to take this opportunity to thank the community of Warm Springs and the staff of Warm Springs Health and Wellness Center. I have worked as a pharmacist for the Warm Springs Health and Wellness Center since January of 1995. I have truly loved my work here and am very appreciative of the chance to work with and among so many wonderful people. It is with great sadness (and after many tears!) that I say good-bye. I have recently accepted a position with the University of Iowa Hospitals and Clinics in Iowa City, Iowa. My last day of work at the clinic is October 15th. I will miss everyone more than you can know. I doubt very seriously that I will find any better co-workers or patients, but it is a tremendous learning opportunity. I hope to bring what I learn there back to the Indian Health Service in the future.

I would like to also thank the staff of the Community Health Education Team. Early Childhood Education and Warm Springs Elementary School. I have worked with these groups over the last couple of years to provide poison prevention education and everyone (especially the children!) has been incredibly flexible and cooperative. You're lucky to have Anson and Anita from CHET working with the young people. They are very good at their jobs!
Again, thank you all. It has been a pleasure serving you as a pharmacist.
Sincerely,
Linda M Schrand,
Pharm.D.
