Women Who Served Are Veterans Too!

Women Are Veterans Too!

You may be eligible for veterans benefits if you: (a) Are a veteran of the U.S. Army, Navy, Air Force, Marine Corps or Coast Guard. (b) Served in the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps (WAAC) in 1942-43. (c) Flew as a Women's Air Force Service Pilot (WASP) in World War II. (d) Were a telephone operator, clerk, dietitian or reconstruction aide with the Army in Europe during World War I.

Women, like men who served in the military services, can be potentially eligible for a variety of veterans benefits.

Medical Care

A full range of health care services are available at VA medical facilities, to eligible women veterans. A law recently passed by Congress made several changes in a veteran's eligibility for VA health care. The intent of law is to ensure that VA Medical Center care is provided to service-connected veterans and to lower-income veterans. Those veterans with higher incomes will be provided VA health care on a space available basis and may be charged a deductible for their care based on their income.

The law established three categories-A, B, and C, for VA Medical Center, nursing home and outpatient care. The eligibility assessment applies to all non service-connected veterans regardless of age, except for following groups: former prisoners of war, veterans exposed to certain herbicides while serving in Vietnam and to ionizing radiation in connection with atmospheric testing of nuclear weapons and in occupation of Hiroshima and Nagasaki who require treatment of a condition that may be related to such exposure, veterans receiving a VA pension, Veterans of WWI, the Spanish American War and Mexican Border period, and veterans eligible for Medicaid. Recent accommodations to the needs of women veterans include increased privacy and improved gynecological services. Coordinators for women veterans at VA medical facilities are available to provide special assistance to women patients.

Disability Compensation

Veterans who are disabled by injury or disease incurred or aggravated during active service in line of duty during wartime or peacetime service and were discharged or separated under other than dishonorable conditions may be compensated for their service connected injury or disease. Veterans who are found to be eligible for disability compensation are entitled to monthly payments. The amount of payment depends upon the degree or disability. In addition, a wide variety of benefits, including specially adapted autos and homes, are available to certain severely disabled veterans.

Pensions

Veterans wartime service may be eligible for pensions if permanently and totally disabled for reasons not traceable to service. Veterans 65 years of age or older and not working are considered permanently and totally disabled. However, pensions are awarded on the basis of need. Pension is not payable to those who have estates that can provide adequate maintenance.

Education

VA administers education programs for veterans and active duty servicepersons. Veterans who participated in the Montgomery G.I. Bill while on active duty have eligibility for 10 years after their last discharge or release. The Montgomery G.I. Bill also provides educational assistance to members of the Selected Reserve. A disabled veteran will be given an initial evaluation to establish eligibility and entitlement and to determine whether extended evaluation, independent living services, educational or vocational training, training, or employment assistance is needed. Veterans who are seriously disabled may receive services and assistance to improve their ability to live more independently in their community. After completion of training, the VA will assist the veteran to find and hold a suitable job.
