Proposed chemicals to control noxious weeds

The Natural Resources Department and the Bureau of Indian Affairs are proposing an amendment to the existing project assessment for controlling competing vegetation and noxious weeds which was originally approved in January of 1995. The proposal would change the existing list of authorized chemicals, adding several which will help overcome the genetic resistance of certain noxious weed species toward the chemicals being used presently. All current Best Management Practices in the Integrated Resource Management Plan for the protection of water resources will remain in force. The current assessment will be extended for a period of five years. Any new chemicals will be applied according to Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) regulations and the Tribal Water Code. Interested Reservation residents can contact Gerald Henrikson, Environmental Coordinator at 553-2421 or fax 553-2434.

Veterans War Memorial Well in Planning

The All-Warrior Memorial project is looking pretty good at this point and the site has been discussed and agreed on which is at the Museum area. The Veterans have met with the Museum Board of Directors and they were in full support of the memorial being at the Museum area. There was mention, why didn't they include this in the original planning of the Museum in the beginning.

There were other locations suggested, the Museum area was the

No. 1, site, the next site was at the Pi-um-sha grounds, the third area was adjacent to the court house. One of the main objections to the other two sites was Vandalism and damage to a sacred memorial.

Finally after all these years the Veterans will be recognized for what they have done for their country in time of war. They should take pride in being remembered for their service. Some have gone and never returned but they will be remembered and honored with this memorial. Services from as far back as when the United States needed scouts for the military, they called upon men from Warm Springs, right up to the present time men never hesitated at all to answer the call when needed during war time.

Right from the Indian Wars right down to WWI, WWII, the Korean War, Vietnam, the Persian Gulf and any other skirmishes we may have been mixed up in. Today we have boys in the service and have been over in Bosnia keeping the peace in that country.

In each war there were tough battles fought by our boys right from the WWI, in France, WWII, during all the battles in the Pacific area and the European countries, the invasion of North Africa, the invasion of Italy, the Normandy landing, and finally the big WWII, ended but not for long as the North Koreans invaded the South Korean area where they asked the United Nations for assistance and the U.S. was first to send troops in to help the South Koreans, and from there the battles began. The big push out of South Korea's Pusan, VIA an invasion of Enchon, the big drive north until the Chinese joined in with the North Koreans and the fighting started.. The siege at Changjun Reservoir, all the big battles of Pork Chop Hill, Bloody Ridge, Heart Break Ridge, Old Baldy just to name a few big battles. After the Korean War, Vietnam started and the 1000 day war with the big battles of Khe Sanh, Quang Tri, Pleiku, Bien Hoa, the Mekong Delta, just to name a few in Vietnam, than came the Desert Storm, where fighting took place with the Americans doing most of the fighting.

We have a lot of Veterans who don't speak of things like this and some have a hard time getting back to normal life after facing things like this. We see the bad things of our Veterans and wonder why they do what they do, we never stop think of how we can help the problem Veterans, many who still have had dreams of those dark dreadful days of war.
