Lake Billy Chinook Day set for September 19 at The Cove

Lake Billy Chinook Day
...more than just a cleanup!

Clean up the world

Lake cleanup, restoration projects and a wide array of entertainment and family events mark the fifth annual Lake Billy Chinook Day (LBCD) to be held Saturday, September 19 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at The Cove Palisades State Park, 14 miles west of Madras.

As a featured event of Oregon Archaeology Week, LBCD will highlight the significance of cultural resources and historic events in Central Oregon, especially around the lake itself. Presentations and displays on Native American rock art, paleontology and cultural resources will be featured at the event site.

Volunteer registration for the cleanup and stewardship activities will begin at 9 a.m. The event's welcoming and orientation will start at 10 a.m. Volunteers and boats are still needed to help with many projects, which include shoreline restoration, viewpoint and canyon rim cleanup, erosion control and lake/shoreline cleanup on all three arms of Lake Billy Chinook.

"You do not need to have a boat or go out on the lake to participate in the cleanup," stresses event coordinator Paul Patton. He also noted that participation in the cleanup is voluntary. "Come on out just to enjoy all the great activities going on," he added. The park's day use fee and one night's camping fee will be waived for registered cleanup participants. Oregon state park day use permit ($3 daily/$25 annual) are required for all other vehicles.

The primary event sponsors, Oregon Parks and Recreation Department, Portland General Electric and the Confederated Tribes of Warm Springs, have for the third consecutive year joined with "Clean Up The World", Ltd. of Sydney, Australia. "Clean Up The World" Ltd. provides organizational support and promotion for cleanup events and activities around the globe, and is affiliated with the United Nations Environment Programme (UNEP). "Lake Billy Chinook Day is an opportunity for us all to pull together, get involved and make a difference," said Deb Schallert, Recreation coordinator for Portland General Electric.

The cleanup runs until 1 p.m., when the celebration and special events begin. Highlights include an exhibit of live birds of prey, staffed by interpreters from the High Desert Museum; a prize raffle; free canoe and kayak rides provided by Summit Sports of Sunriver; a performance by Native Expressions, a tribal youth performance troupe representing the Confederated Tribes of Warm Springs, and a performance by the Southern Oregon Scottish Bagpipe Band, joined by local highland dancers. A direct descendant of Wasco tribesman Billy Chinook (for whom the lake is named) will present information on the life and times of this historic figure. A memorial service for the late Pierson Mitchell, a Warm Springs tribal member and longtime spiritual/longhouse leader on the reservation, and a Lake Billy Chinook Day supporter, will be held. Food and drinks will be available at the event site as well.

"Lake Billy Chinook Day is an opportunity to promote understanding and appreciation for our surroundings, while working together to protect and enhance our land and water. We encourage everyone to join us in this worthwhile undertaking," said Warren R. Clements, Director of Tribal Relations for the Confederated Tribes.

New to this year's event is the Round Butte Dam Run, featuring a 15K run, 10K walk and a two-mile fun run. This is the first year that the annual run will be held in conjunction with Lake Billy Chinook Day. The Round Butte Dam Run activities begin at 8 a.m., located at PGE's Round Butte Overlook Park facility, and are sponsored by the city of Culver and the Culver Community Improvement Group.

Lake Billy Chinook Day is made possible by volunteers and sponsors, including The Telephone Pioneers

Salmon Corps seeking applicants

The Earth Conservation Corps' Salmon Corps program, through the Natural Resources and Fisheries departments of the Confederated Tribes of Warm Springs, Nez Perce Tribe, Confederated Tribes of the Umatilla Indian Reservation, Yakama Indian Nation and the Shoshone-Bannock Nation, is dedicated to salmon and watershed restoration on reservations and ceded lands. Salmon Corps also provides educational benefits and training to its members.

Applicants must be between 18 and 25 years of age and be willing to complete one year of service. Salmon Corps crew members receive a stipend of $7,945 per year, plus FREE health insurance and FREE child care benefits. GED programs are provided for crew members without high school diplomas. After completing the terms of service, crew members receive a $4,725 educational scholarship award.

The Salmon Corps program is a partnership between the Confederated Tribes of the Warm Springs Indian Reservation, the non-profit Earth Conservation Corps, and the Columbia River Inter-Tribal Fish Commission.

Salmon Corps duties are labor-intensive and primarily outdoors. Riparian fencing re-vegetating streambeds and developing alternative water sources for livestock are the primary tasks. In addition, crew members are involved in community service, fisheries work, and a variety of other assignments which sometimes require travel away from home.

Deadline for applications is September 18, 1998. Please contact the field director, Roland Kalama, Jr., at 553-3362 for further information.

Hospital hosts public forum

Community members are invited to attend a public forum hosted by the Mountain View Hospital Board of Directors to be held Thursday, September 24 from 6:30 to 9 p.m. at the Warm Springs Community Center. This interactive meeting will be facilitated with a team lead by Clint Jacks of the Oregon State University Extension Service. Light refreshments will be provided.

The purpose of this community meeting is to gather ideas that will assist in building a sense of ownership and partnership between communities, through the services that Mountain View Hospital District provides. "This will be a good opportunity for residents of the district to interact with Board members and to share their thoughts and suggestions with the board in a casual setting," stated board chairman Tom Kirsch.

For further information, call Rob Fuller, Community Relations Director at 475-3882, extension 2370.

"Gentlemen" to be presented

The Museum At Warm Springs will host Shakespeare's "Two Gentlemen of Verona", a play presented by the University of Oregon. This FREE performance is scheduled for Wednesday, September 16 at 7 p.m. at The Museum.

The Play, Two Gentlemen of Verona, is one of Shakespeare's earlier plays. Although it is essentially a romantic comedy (the clown duo of Launce and Speed are remarkable comic creations), the play also raises some serious questions about friendship, honesty and relationships between men and women. Underlying all is beautiful language and fascinating characters.

The cast and crew are willing to meet with the entire audience following the performance for a question and answer session.

For an evening of fun and entertainment, come see "Two Gentlemen of Verona" at The Museum on Wednesday, September 16. It is free and open to the public. For more information, call The Museum at 553-3331.
