Portland area director, meets with Tribal Council

Veterans Day Observed

Veterans gather to observe Veterans day with a short ceremony at the Veterans stone in front of the Court house. A 21 gun salute to all veterans who have served their country in time of un-rest around the world. WW 1, WWII, The Korean conflict, Vietnam and the Persain Gulf war, also recognizing all Veterans in war and pesce time. A time to reflect back to remember sll those who have served the country and have now passed on. All the Veterans who have experienced all the hardships and frustrations during time of war. To those who served in peace time yet ready to defend the Country when necessary. The big celebration at the end of WW li, when Germany and Japan surrendered. The Forgotten war, Korea, at the end of that war it just faded away, no bands no parades but men died there just as well. The Vietnam Warthat stirred a lot of controversy where many thought we shouldn't have been there, Yet We gather to Salute All Veterans today.

Doni Wilder, Portland Area Director of Indian Health Services (IHS), Terry Smith, Health Systems Specialist for Portland Area Office and Russ Alger, Service Unit Director for Warm Springs Health and Wellness were meeting with Tribal Council as an introduction of Doni Wilder, the new Area Director for IHS.

Wilder, has been Portland Area Director of IHS since August 31, 1998. Prior to this, she was director of the Northwest Indian Health Board for eleven years. Also discussed at the meeting was the budget of the Portland Area Office and how the Area Office provides service to the Warm Springs Service Unit.

Other issues that were addressed during the November 3, meeting were the Elder care update, Oregon Department of Transportation update on Highway 26, Tribal Committee's employee pay discussion, Consensus to submit Gaming update report to be published in the Spilyay Tymoo and Approval for Agreement Reaffirming the Joint Venture Demonstration Project between the Confederated Tribes of Warm Springs and the Indian Health Service to be signed by Chair of Tribal Council. Tribal Council Summary minutes and information was provided by Tribal Council personnel.
