Michael Manning leads the buffs at the 3A State Track Meet in Eugene

The Madras High School Track & Field team sent three competitors to the 3A State Track Meet in Eugene, OR. The three who participated were Kira Langnese, Michael Manning, and Ashlyn Lofting.

Michael Manning, a sophomore, came up big in the 1,500 meter run winning the state title with a time of 4:04.59.

Kira Langnese was entered in the Pole Vault and could not clear the opening height 8-foot-6, which was her personal best so far this year.

Ashlyn Lofting was the only other Madras athlete to compete and ended up in 13th place in the Discus, the same way she ended up last year. She was disappointed in her performance and says that she still has a year left to return to the state meet and hopefully do better than the last two years.

All three of the participants are underclassmen and all hope to return to the state meet next year along with some of their team mates and have all do well.

Relay for Life set for July 17-18 in Madras

A unique fundraiser-the American Cancer Society's Relay For Life- is coming to Madras in July. The fundraiser takes place from 10 in the morning on Saturday, July 17, until 10 the following morning.

Relay For Life participants organize in teams of 8 to 12 people, who take turns traveling around the quarter-mile track at Madras High School, relay-style for a full 24 hours.

Teams from businesses, churches, civic groups and families join the fun of the overnight campout, enjoying food, entertainment, games and the camaraderie that comes from supporting a good cause.

Each team member is asked to raise $100 in sponsorship money to participate in the event, and those who raise money will earn prizes.

Team members take turns walking, running, dancing or skipping around the track throughout the day and night. This is an event for athletic and non-athletic individuals alike.

The funds are for the American Cancer Society, and will support education and patient services in Jefferson County, and cancer research elsewhere in Oregon.

On Saturday, all day long, to keep people busy and having fun, there will be activities like volleyball, a scavenger hunt, a tent decorating contest, lap poker early in the morning hours, live music, children's activities, the limbo and more.

As night falls, luminaries surrounding the track are lit to honor the brave survivors and loved ones we've lost in the battle. Relay For Life asks for a $5 donation for each luminary.

The American Cancer Society is reaching out to Jefferson County residents to join in the fight against the second- leading cause of death in the U.S.

Anyone wishing to participate may pick up a captain's packet at Willow Creek Books in downtown Madras or from the Warm Springs Health & Wellness Center, 1270 Kot-num Road(ask for Michele Gemelas).

The Jefferson County Relay For Life last year was a huge success! There were 11 teams with over 132 participants raising over $18,000 and 144 luminaries purchased.

For more information, contact Jim and Michele Gemelas at (541) 475-4558.
