"Tribal Member Artist 2000" 7th annual tribal artist exhibit opens June 11, 2000

"Native Family Strength" basket by Natalie Kirk, Judge's Choice Award recipient.

Recipient of the Judge's Choice award was Natalie Kirk for her basket, "Native Family Strength," made with corn husk, raffia and wax linen. Her basket consists of designs of people, animals, feathers and wasco patterns. The people at the top of the basket represent Natalie, Obedt, and her three daughters. She uses a feather to separate the people pattern. Included in her basket are animals such as: deer, butterflies, dog and cat. She uses a Wasco pattern in all her baskets.

Natalie likes to look at old patterns from long ago in books or artifacts at the Museum where she is employed. She was taught by Eraina Palmer two years ago to make the Root bags, or Wapas bags. Eraina has taught many community members her knowledge of the contemporary root bags. Eraina and all her students have learned to use many different kinds of materials after learning to make a bag.

Eraina is very proud of Natalie receiving the Judge's Choice Award. Eraina taught Selena Boise how to make the basket that won her the Judge's Choice Award two years ago. "The art of basketweaving will continue to flourish with people like Eraina Palmer, who is willing to teach it," says Selena Boise.

Native American applicants sought for Hatfield fellowship

GRAND RONDE, Oregon--The Confederated Tribes of the Grand Ronde Community of Oregon announced today that applications for the third Mark O. Hatfield Congressional Fellowship are now open. Each year, a Hatfield Fellow will be selected from Native American applicants to serve as an intern for a member of Oregon's Congressional delegation.

The Fellowship honors Mark Hatfield for his accomplishments as a United States Senator and Governor of Oregon and for his mentorship of many members of his staff who became leaders in their own communities.

"I am honored to host the second Hatfield Fellow in my Washington, D.C. office. The Mark Hatfield Congressional Fellowship provides young people of Pacific Northwest American Indian tribes the opportunity to help make a difference in their personal lives as well as contribute to the quality of life within their communities," commented Senator Smith. The 2000-2001 Fellow will serve this year in Representative Hooley's office, from Nov. '00 through July '01.

"The Hatfield Fellowship will seed Indian Country with capable, motivated individuals who know their way around Washington, D.C. and produce long-term benefits for all the Tribes and the Pacific Northwest" said Len Bergstein, a member of the Spirit Mountain Community Fund Board of Trustees which oversees the internship.

Applicants must be enrolled adult members of federally recognized

Tribes in Oregon, Idaho, Montana, and Washington, with preference given to the nine federally recognized Oregon Tribes.

Highlights of the Fellowship include:

- The Hatfield Fellow will be rotated every year among the House and Senate members of the Oregon delegation.
- Each Hatfield Fellow will serve for nine months (Nov/2000 - July/2001) and will receive a monthly stipend, moving and travel expenses and participation in a special American Political Science Association Orientation.

Please check your child's immunization record so you have time to get the shots for your child before school starts. Your child can be excluded from school because of non-compliance with the school laws. Immunizations may be obtained by scheduling an appointment for the Ambulatory Care Nursing Clinic at 553-1196, Ext. 2632.

All past Miss Warm Springs invited to participate in Pi-Ume-Sha parade

Miss Warm Springs 2000 Alyssa Macy and the Miss Warm Springs Committee are inviting all past Miss Warm Springs representatives to participate in the 2000 Pi-Ume-Sha Parade. We would like to see as many past Miss Warm Springs on horseback, riding on a car or truck will be fine also. The Miss Warm Springs Committee has made arrangements for photo opportunities for past representatives to have their pictures taken for the 2001 Miss Warm Springs Pageant Program. This will be a great time to bring out the beautiful beadwork you wore when you represented our Tribes during your reign as Miss Warm Springs.
