The 20th Annual Endurance Race drew seven contestants; 3 in the Sr., 4 in the Jr.

Evan Spino Sr. crosses the finish line a close second.

The Endurance Horse Race has become one of the popular high-light events of the Pi-Ume-Sha Celebration as each year go by. The very first race was held during the Root Feast weekend on April 12, 1980 and was a 18-20 mile course. The race then was sponsored by the Warm Springs Float committee of the Steno pool (The Tribal Council Administrative Services).

The first race had six entries, Larry Squiempfen, Toba Scott, Joe Scott, Reggie Winishut, Emerson "Chief" Smith, and Stanley "Buck" Smith. The winner was Chief Smith. His prize was cash and a trophy from the Float Committee. The trophy was a memorial trophy from the Quinn family. The Elmer Quinn memorial trophy had to be won three times in order to keep it. Buck Smith came in second and Reggie Winishut came in third.

As years passed, changes were made and so did the race. There is a Senior Division and a Junior Division. Last year there were 15 entrants. This year was a total of seven.

This year's Endurance Race was in memory of Prosanna Williams, Arthur Mitchell and Caroline Tohet, committee members that have passed on. Post time was Saturday, June 24, 2000 8:15 a.m.

The winners are as follows:

Senior Division
