OSAA, Dairy Farmers Extend Contract, new Partnerships with Marriott, Mackenzie Co.

Wilsonville, Ore.—The Oregon School Activities association is proud to announce a three-year contract extension with the Dairy Farmers of Oregon.

The OSAA Academic All-State program has been sponsored by the Dairy Farmers of Oregon since 1997. Last year, more than 10,000 Oregon high school students were honored for their efforts in the classroom as well as athletics and activities.

"The OSAA believes in the balance of education and athletics and the Dairy Farmers on Oregon and its scholarship program seem like a natural to us," said Wes Ediger, the OSAA's executive director. "We think this is a great partnership."

The contract extension will enable this program to continue through the 2002-2003 school year. This fall's Academic All-State teams will be announced in October.

The OSAA also announces new partnerships with Marriott Hotels, The Mackenzie Company and iHigh.com.

Marriott, the official hotel of the OSAA, will serve as event headquarters for at least 11 OSAA-U.S. Bank State Championship events this year in Portland, Beaverton, and Eugene. Marriott will offer a special rate to participating schools. Properties involved are Courtyard by Marriott, Fairfield Inn, Residence Inn and the Portland Downtown Marriott, which will host the OSAA's Delegate Assembly meeting in October.

The Mackenzie Company, the new official OSAA merchandiser, will create specific designs for each state championship and will sell on site. Student-athletes and fans also will be able to place orders via the new OSAA On-Line Store featuring more than 50 items ranging from t-shirts and hats to sweatshirts and letterman jackets. The Mackenzie Company also will process special orders from schools desiring personalized garments embroidered with players names and numbers. Designs for this fall's events (football, soccer, volleyball and cross country) will be available by the end of August. The store can be accessed via www.osaa.org.

The OSAA has entered into a partnership with iHigh.com, a national network of internet sites. Affiliated with the National Federation of State High School Associations, iHigh has a goal of eventually linking all 50 state associations and the District of Columbia. Earlier this summer, iHigh.com merged with locally-operated AthleticHigh.com, now in its fifth year of covering prep sports. This agreement essentially has created another OSAA information website in which every school in the state may have its own page maintained by a School Information Director. As of today, the public will be able to access information through www.orego.ihigh.com or www.osaa.org.

We're very excited about the three new partnerships and the commitment they've made to the kids in Oregon," Ediger said. "Their involvement will be very beneficial to our schools as they deal with continued financial limitations."

The Salem Vet Center Available To Help all Veterans

VET CENTER, Salem Vet Center, 617 Chemeketa St. NE, Suite 100, Salem, OR 97301. Individual counseling, Group counseling, Sexual trauma counseling, substance abuse information, Liaison with community agencies, Referral for benefits assistance, for Job counseling.

History: Vet Centers first opened in late 1979, providing services to Vietnam era Veterans. Congress and the President later opened Vet Center doors to veterans of Somalia, the Persian Gulf, Panama, Grenada, and Lebanon. There are 205 Vet Centers in all 50 United States, Puerto Rico, and Guam, providing a broad range of services to a diverse population of veterans. On October 9, 1996 President Clinton signed Public Law 104-262 providing counseling eligibility to combat theater veterans of WWII and Korea. He also signed Public Law 104-275 which expanded the dates of Vietnam theater service back to 2/28/61. This provides eligibility to veterans who served in Vietnam Era (8/5/64/7/75). Officially titled "Readjustment Counseling Service," the Vet Centers a community based arm of the Department of Veterans Affairs. Our goal is to provide a wide range of counseling, outreach, and referral services to veterans in order to help them make a less stressful post-war readjustment to civilian life

"Delayed Stress" While many veterans have readjusted well into civilian life, in spite of their wartime experiences, others have found the "road back home" more difficult. "Delayed stress" is the common name for posttraumatic Stress Disorder (PTSD); a delayed and often chronic reaction experienced by normal people exposed to abnormally intense amounts of stress, like that encountered in war zones, sexual trauma, natural disasters, and other catastrophic situations. Symptoms in clued: anger, irritability, rage, anxiety reactions, chronic depression, difficulty trusting people, emotional constriction, numbness, hyper-vigilance, impacted grief, intrusive memories, low tolerance to stress, problems with authority, sleep disorders, substance abuse, and self esteem issues.

Readjustment Counseling Services: Individual Counseling, Marital/Family Counseling, Group Counseling, Couples Counseling, Sexual Trauma, Crises Intervention, Female Veterans Issues, Veterans Support Groups. Time limited specialty groups covering various topics are offered as staff availability permits. Please contact the Center for further details.

- Eligibility For Counseling Services: Veterans who served in conflict zones during the following periods of hostilities:
- * Somalia Sept. 17, 1992 Ongoing
  - * Persian Gulf Aug. 2, 1990, Ongoing.
