Forum focuses on problem of gangs

Warm Springs will be hosting a gang awareness and prevention forum on Friday and Saturday, April 12 and 13.

The event begins Friday morning from 8 to 9 o'clock, with registration at the Agency Longhouse.

At 9:30 a.m. will be the invocation by Peggy Williams, followed by introductions by Char Herkshan.

Guest speakers Waunetta Lonewolf, Kevin Cox and Wali Murray will then make presentations.

Friday workshops are from 10:45 a.m. till 3 p.m., with a break for lunch. Closing prayer for the day is at 4 p.m.

Forum participants will then visit inmates at the Warm Springs Jail for discussion of gang prevention and awareness.

Gang members appear suspicious in this drawing by Charlene Moody.

The schedule on Saturday, April 13, will be the same as on Friday, with the exception that no visit is scheduled on Saturday at the jail.

For more information, contact Char Herkshan at 553-3205.

During the two-day forum, the workshop topics will include the following:

History of gangs in the U.S.; Indian gangs; tagger wars; gangs in sports, and female gangs.

Another workshop topic will be developing community-based gang prevention and intervention campaigns and strategies.

Herkshan commented that the problem of gangs on the reservation and among young tribal members is a very serious and disturbing one.

Her hope is that the upcoming workshop will provide information on how to address this problem in the future.

Healing Circle 2002 gathering at HeHe

The HeHe Longhouse will be the site of the 2002 Honoring of the Sacred Healing Circle, April 19-21.

This is an event for veterans and their families, though others are welcome as well.

The opening ceremonies, lighting of the healing fire, blessing and honor song, are scheduled for 6:30 p.m., Friday, April 19. All drums are invited. Master of ceremonies will Bill Wheeler, who will give the introduction. This will be followed by a talk by Foster Kalama, who coordinates this event.

Pete Simoneau will talk on treatment availability for veterans.

He will speak again on Saturday, at 9:15 a.m., followed by a talk by Sam King, among other activities.

There will be a mini powwow beginning at 7 p.m. A clown dance contest will also be held, with prizes awarded.

Closing ceremonies will be Sunday at 10 a.m.

No fees of any kind are being charged. Contributions and donations of raffle items and food will be greatly appreciated. This is an alcohol and drug free event. Menu will include buffalo meat, salmon, deer and or elk and trout. There will be games such as horseshoes, football and softball, egg, water-balloon toss, or whatever else comes up.

A happy Easter

The egg hunt was held before the Root Feast, also on Sunday at Simnasho.
