

Rider to compete at national finals

Jenna Johnson is a barrel racer. She and her family are raising funds so she can compete at the All Indian National Rodeo finals in California.

Jenna Johnson will be competing in the All Indian National Rodeo finals in October. Johnson, 15, will be competing in the ladies barrel race competition.

The rodeo finals will be at San Jacinto, Calif., on Oct. 14-17. Jenna's family is helping her raise funds to make the trip.

The fund-raising will be through a raffle, and also enchilada and Navajo taco sale, said Jodel Johnson, Jenna's mother.

The raffle will be for items including $100 cash, a $25 gas card for the Shell service station, a $20 certificate for espresso drinks at Jo's Coffee Shop, a blanket, and beaded items. Raffle tickets are $1 and can be purchased from Jodel at Jo's Coffee Shop by the Shell station.

She said the enchilada and Navajo taco sales will probably happen during the last week of September. The sales probably will be each day for a week, at Jo's Coffee Shop.

The drawing is to be held on Oct. 11 at the last fundraiser luncheon.
