Charlene Stacona-White (left) and Jeannie Brisbois carry the banner to lead a parade of about 40 people in the Child Protective Services walk, from the Child Protective Services offices on the Warm Springs campus to the Warm Springs Community Center. The walk was to raise awareness for the month of April, National Child Abuse Prevention Month. As the parade throng moved east on Wasco Street, each walker received a blue helium balloon, blown by crewmembers of the Warm Springs Fire and Safety Department. The walk ended at the community center, where a barbecue luncheon was served.

OSU forestry honors Shaw

Bodie Shaw has been named a 2005 Distinguished Alumnus of the Oregon State University College of Forestry. Shaw, son of Mavis and Nat Shaw, is a 1993 graduate of OSU. He also received a master's degree from the college in 1996.

Shaw is now working as the deputy chief of the Fire Management Branch of the National Interagency Fire Center in Boise, Idaho. The center houses seven federal and state agencies, working together to support wildland fire and disaster operations. The agencies include the BIA, BLM, Forest Service, Fish and Wildlife Service, National Park Service, National Association of State Foresters, National Weather Service, and

Bodie Shaw

Office of Aircraft Services.

Before joining the National Interagency Fire Center, Shaw worked for the BIA in Washington, D.C. In 2001 he was selected as a Senator Mark O. Hatfield Congressional Fellow.

He also worked for the BIA as the Warm Springs Reservation forest manager.

Shaw was born in Prineville and spent his early years in Warm Springs, Redmond, the Umatilla Reservation and Roswell, New Mexico. He is a 1983 graduate of Redmond High School. He joined the Air Force before continuing school. He received an associates degree from Central Oregon Community College, and a bachelors and masters degrees at Oregon State University. Shaw and his wife Heather have three children, one girl and two boys. He will receive the Distinguished Alumnus award at a celebration on Saturday, May 21. He was named a Distinguished Alumnus by Hal Salwasser, Dean of the OSU College of Forestry.

Help needed with treaty re-enactment

The events on the reservation commemorating the 150th anniversary of the Treaty of 1855 will include a re-enactment of the signing. The re-enactment play is being written by Frederick Duran Bobb, oral history supervisor of the tribal Cultural Resources Department.

The play will be presented during Pi-Ume-Sha weekend, June 24-26. In preparing for the presentation, Bobb said he and others working on the project are looking for some assistance.

"We're looking for any descendants of the original treaty signers, people who are willing to volunteer their time for both speaking and non-speaking roles," said Bobb.

He said the play will include about 30 Indian extras, and about 20 non-Indian extras. A small stipend and souvenir gift will be given to those who participate.

"There will be no auditions," said Bobb. "Most anybody who wants to become involved with this play will be accepted, as this is a community effort."

It would be helpful, he said, if the people who want to be actors in the play have their own regalia to wear during the performance.

Other than actors, other volunteers are needed: for construction of the stage, and for painting the backdrops. Artists are needed to build the props, the main one being the Treaty Oak.

Volunteers are needed to help with lighting, sound systems, cue cards, stage setup, etc. One of our main concerns for now is finding someone who would be willing to construct the stage, said Bobb. "It has to be portable, perhaps built on wheels, because we only have a few minutes to bring the stage out onto the grounds at the Treaty Days celebration, set it up, and begin our play." After the play, things are going to move along quickly, so the stage will have to be taken down almost as quickly as it is set up, he said.

"If businesses or individuals would be willing to donate the materials needed to build the stage, we would be thankful," he added.

If people are interested, they can pick up an application from Bobb, Anita Davis, Evaline Patt or Arlene Boileau. Anita Davis can be reached at 553-3510, or send e-mail to: adavis@wstribes.org. Evaline Patt can be reached at 553-3331, or epatt@wstribes.org. Frederick Duran Bobb can be reached at 553-3360, or fbobb@wstribes.org.

Museum hopes to enhance collection

The Museum at Warm Springs wishes to enhance the permanent collect at the museum by accepting artifacts for consideration during an appraisal process.

The process will take place on Monday, June 6. The museum will accept objects starting on Friday, May 26, and the deadline will be Thursday, June 2 at 5 p.m.

All objects must be accompanied by an object history form available at the museum. Objects can also be submitted for appraisal only. Donations are always welcome. Museum policy is one object per family.

The museum is dedicated to the people of the Confederated Tribes of Warm Springs, whose vision, generosity and wisdom created a legacy for our grandchildren and great-grandchildren, said the museum's Natalie Kirk.

"Please help us preserve this legacy by providing detailed information about the pieces you submit for consideration," said Kirk.

If you have questions, you can reach her at 553-3331, ext. 412, during regular business hours.

Vendors wanted for market

The Madras Saturday Market opens at Friendship Park by Westside Elementary School, former site of the Collage of Culture, on June 4, from 9 a.m. until 2 p.m. The market is held weekly through the summer. Interested vendors are encouraged to sign up, said Jerry Ramsey, one of the organizers of the market. Guidelines and application forms are available at the Madras-Jefferson County Chamber of Commerce, and at the Jefferson County Library main desk. For further information, call 546-6350, or 475-5390.
