

Quaid seeks 509-J position

By Julie Quaid

I am running for position 4 on the Jefferson County School District 509-J Board of Directors. I have served the last 12 months through an appointment to a vacated school board position.

I lost a close race last year and would like to continue serving by winning the upcoming election. I am running against opponent Stacy Reed.

I would like to continue serving because I enjoy working in K-12 public education, and have the experience, knowledge and ability to build cooperative relationships with people and organizations.

Julie Quaid

I believe that all children must experience a sense of belonging to a family community and school; all children must believe their dreams can come true; and all children must become a strong member of our community.

I would appreciate your support by casting a vote for me so I can continue serving on the Jefferson County school board.

No ballot box

There will not be a ballot box in Warm Springs for the upcoming election, as there is not a suitable location, according to the county clerk's office. A ballot box would have to be available until 8 p.m. on Election Day, and there is no site that would qualify, said county clerk Kathy Marston. So be sure to mail in your ballot, or drive it to Madras.

School discussion in Warm Springs

Join the Chalkboard Project in Warm Springs for a school discussion group from 7 to 8:30 p.m. on Thursday, May 19 at the Family Resource Center. Soft drinks and pizza will be served to participants.

The Chalkboard Project is charged with exploring what it takes to make our K-12 public schools among the nation's best.

The goal is for citizens to explore the issues and discuss some choices about what is most important to you in building a superior K-12 system in Oregon. The Chalkboard Project was launched by five of Oregon's leading non-profit foundations, hoping to close the student achievement gap for all Oregonians.

The project will share with the public and with the legislature recommendations from the civic engagement process by the end of the school year.

For more information about the project, or the May 19 meeting in Warm Springs, call Julie Quaid at 553-3438, or Maura Schwartz at 475-0348.
