I love you babe

As I sit here today regretting, I let our love fade away. Reminiscing of the days long past, my times move so fast. Going back to the day when I used to say... I love you babe!

Wishing those days could come back to stay. Back in your arms, feeling comfort and safety, away from harms way. I'll be counting the minutes not the days until by your side is where I lay. Never again to be afraid and alone, hoping to have another chance to rebuild our home. I love you babe with all my heart. It makes me said that we're apart. I know our love was meant to be, the kind of love that will last forever. I want to be with you until the end of time, because I'll always love you babe!

Happy Valentines Day, babe. I love you always, Peaches.
