

Concern for future of Ladies Auxiliary

By Kirby G. Heath Sr.
Commander, VFW
Elliot Palmer Post 4217

Elliot Palmer Post No. 4217 Veterans of Foreign Wars is very concerned about the dilemma of the Warm Springs Auxiliary, which has throughout the years been the right arm of the V.F.W.

It has contributed very strongly, supporting all veterans during our tribal history of being there for our community, tribes, county, state, as well as nationally.

Their support is of great service not only to the Veterans of Foreign Wars but to the families of the veterans. They were there for commemoration of all Veterans Day and activities of the people, for memorials and funerals, and the honoring and recognizing old and new veterans.

The members of the Ladies Auxiliary are very important whether old or young. The presence of the Auxiliary is a tradition, history, and the future, the opportunity for all families to come together with all the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the past and present, for the march of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, all the military ceremonies and rituals for the brave warriors who served their country under the Old Glory, red, white and blue. The Ladies Auxiliary marched with us. They are forever a part of us.

So, with this the Warm Springs V.F.W. wish the ladies of Warm Springs to come forth to ensure our history is not lost, that they shall be with us for their future.

The children must remember their culture, their heritage of the soldiers, the warriors of Elliot Palmer Post No. 4217.

This invitation is for a meeting to be held this evening at 6 o'clock, Thursday, Feb. 16, at the Senior Citizen Building.

Young Achiever

Michael Bettega

Sponsored by Les Schwab

Michael Bettega, a third-grader at Warm Springs Elementary School, has proven to be a whiz at both math and reading.

In a series of math concepts tests, he scored 100 percent on a 50-question test at the beginning of the school year and scored 89 percent on a recent 30-question test.

Michael, 9, also scored 82 percent on his last Accelerated Reader test.

Michael's favorite part about math is multiplication, or times, and his favorite part of school is learning how things work and "reading about different kinds of things like animals."

It could be said Michael is part of a family of Young Achievers, as his uncle, Marquis Gabriel, was selected as an Achiever recently.

Michael is the second-oldest child in his family.
