Write-In Candidate for the Simnasho District

Bruce Jim

To the Simnasho District and north end voters:

I am a write-in candidate. My name is Bruce Jim, Sr.; my Indian name is Ki-yum-a-luc. I come from the north end. I have lived there and also lived in Celilo—this was in my younger life. This I am sharing with the younger generation of the north end people.

I was asked by several people if I was running for tribal council. I said I wasn't, not that I didn't want to, if asked. I truly believe and respect what people think. Their views are important to the voice of what people want and need. So don't be afraid to voice your concerns to your representatives.

I cannot emphasize more than the understanding of the work and plans that have been made by the present council; some plans have to be carried through.

I'm presently on the off-reservation fish committee, in dealing with the U.S. government, federal court, states of Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana and California on our salmon issues.

To understand that coming into Tribal Council fresh, I will make every effort or attempt to voice my peoples' concerns.

Only you can make or okay council actions, and as your representative I will do everything I can for the people because the people are the law and we are the representatives of them.

So I ask for your vote and support to be elected. Thank you, Bruce Jim, Sr.

Course on starting your small business

Trial members, Would you like to start your own business?

If your answer is yes, then Indianpreneurship might be the opportunity you have been waiting for.

Sponsored by the Oregon Native American Business Entrepreneurship Network (ONABEN), Indianpreneurship is a 12-week course that is comprehensive and thorough in its approach to starting a business.

You will learn several business techniques including developing a marketing plan, price strategy, dealing with legal issues, record keeping, budgeting and much more.

The instructor for this class will be Yvonne Iverson. Classes will be held on Thursdays at the Technology Center located at the Plaza at Warm Springs.

Please contact Eagle-Tech Systems for class registration at 553-1034 ext. 15. Take advantage of this unique opportunity and make your business ideas a reality.

You must register by April 10. Cost is $100 (can be paid in installments).

Classes begin on Thursday, April 12. The class is from 5:30 to 8:30 p.m.
