Iris Anna Smith

Iris Anna Smith of Warm Springs passed away on July 4, 2007. She was 75.

Mrs. Smith was born on April 19, 1932 at Warm Springs to parents Henry Kalama and Rose Kuckup.

She married Woodrow W. Smith on June 7, 1947 at the Warm Springs Presbyterian Church. He preceded her in death.

Mrs. Smith was a lifetime resident of Warm Springs. She was a homemaker and a mother who also devoted her time to many organizations, such as the Diabetic Team. She was also a life member and past president of the VFW Elliot Palmer 4217 of Warm Springs. She was a member of the Survivor Protection Team, and a longtime helper and part of the Healing Circle and also the first Wasco Dancer under Chief Nelson Wallulatum.

Mrs. Smith took in children to her home and made them feel part of her famil.

She worked some years on the Election Board and for the Natural Resources program, labeling and tagging fish.

She worked part-time in law enforcement in Wasco and Jefferson counties, as well as Warm Springs.

In her spare time, Mrs. Smith enjoyed beadwork, root digging, picking huckleberries, and handcrafts. She liked to go for walks. Most importantly, Mrs. Smith loved her family.

She is survived by her children: Warren Smith, Bruce Smith, Wilma Picard, Clarice Crane, Lucy Gadberry, Alex Smith, Leminnie Smith, Lisa Smith, Glen "Batman" Smith, and Ricky Smith, all of Warm Springs; and 39 grandchildren, and 55 great grandchildren.

Nurse honored with national recognition

Indian Health Services National Nurse Leadership Council recently awarded Tama Schjoll the Ancillary Nurse of the Year Award for 2007.

Lorinda Sampson, Schjoll's former supervisor, nominated her for the award.

"This is a national award which includes nominations submitted from all of Indian Health Services, urban and tribal facilities," Sampson said. "Tama's outstanding performance at the Warm Springs Health & Wellness Center made it easy to nominate her, I just had to write it all down."

"Tama is a very deserving individual," Sampson added.

Schjoll has been a nurse's assistant for four years and plans to continue her education to become a nurse.

Tama Schjoll

Schjoll's current supervisor, Diane Fuller, said the award is well deserved.

"Tama has a lot of initiative," Fuller said, and added that Schjoll has made an effort to gain knowledge in areas not required of her. For instance, Schjoll learned how to do eye screenings for diabetic patients.

"She's just a really integral part of our team here," Fuller added. "She's used every education opportunity to learn new things."

Schjoll is also a good person in general, Fuller said.

"She's just an all-around kind person," Fuller said. "The patients really like her—she's very friendly."
