

Camp Sap-si-Kwat is to teach and learn

Children and their families this summer had a chance to learn at Camp Sap-si-kwat.

The purpose of the camp is to teach and to learn, said Charlotte Herkshan, who has conducted the Camp Sap-si-kwat for over a decade.

"If you're not teaching, then you're probably learning," she said.

Throughout the camp, children worked to create a variety of original projects.

Girls made beaded medallions, headbands and rings and also learned to make moccasins.

Boys created dream catchers, medallions and bows and arrows.

The boys also worked on a project that Herkshan said is more serious—the creation of a rawhide Indian suitcase.

"I want them to really learn something truly, truly traditional and cultural," Herkshan explained.

At the end of the week, all of the participants went huckleberry picking. The camp lasted for five days, and was held in Elmer Quinn Park.

Hunting season begins

Hunting regulations for the 2007 season were approved by tribal council recently.

Deer season will open on October 6 and close on October 28.

The bag limit is on buck deer having not less than a forked antler per family. The archery-only season for elk hunting begins on September 15 and will close on September 30.

Tags will be issued on a first-come, first-serve basis to hunters at the public hunters meeting on September 12 after a bow and equipment inspection is conducted.

The general season for elk hunting begins on November 3 and will close on November 30. The bag limit is one elk per family, antlered or antlerless.

Archery season for bear hunting will take place from September 15 to September 30, and bear archery tags are only available to archery elk hunters.

The general seasons for bear hunting will be throughout the months of October and November. Bag limit is one bear per month per family. Cubs and sows with cubs are protected.

Driver safety program saves elders money on insurance

Tribal members are invited to a Driver Safety Program to be held from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday, Sept. 15 at the clinic.

The class is sponsored by the American Association of Retired People (AARP), and qualifies those who complete the course, and who are 55 and over, to a driver insurance discount. Course fee is $10. To enroll, call Tom at 923-2326.
