

Snowboard, ski trip to Meadows

Snowboarders Jakobi (left) and Josiah Washington.

There was another great turnout for the recent Tribal Ski Day at Mt. Hood Meadows. There was still a lot of snow on the mountain for the occasion, and skiing conditions were excellent.

This year marked the fifth season that Mt. Hood Meadows has hosted Tribal Ski Days. This year also saw the most participation by tribal members, both youth and adults.

In addition to providing the bus from Warm Springs to the ski area, Mt. Hood Meadows Ski Resort supplied chair lift tickets, ski and snowboard equipment, lessons from professional ski and snowboard instructors, and lunch.

Izraii Mendez thought the day was a good one.
