

Honoring Our Veterans

Service at the Veterans Stone.

Veteran Kirby Heath

Parade from the Veterans Stone to Longhouse.

Residents of Warm Springs commemorated Veterans Day on Nov. 11 with a variety of Native American warrior and United States military traditions. Dozens of local Native Americans have lost their lives protecting the United States and the liberty enjoyed by all who live within its borders. Pictures of many of these men and women hung on a Longhouse wall as at least 200 residents paid tribute after a ceremony in front of the courthouse.

It has been nearly 150 years since the Snake and Modoc wars, earlier events where Native Americans fought bravely, to the current Iraq and Afghanistan wars. "Thank you for sacrificing your life so we can have our freedom," said Eliza Brown Jim.
