Festival is gearing up

The Festival of Nations is seeking vendors and presenters for the September 10-11 event at Cascade Locks Marine Park.

Festival of Nations started out in 2006 as collaboration between the tribes and the community of Cascade Locks, who shared a vision to celebrate their communities and the rich heritage of the beautiful Columbia Gorge.

The festival has grown into an arts and culture experience that is centered on Native American traditions, but is welcoming to all who appreciate the shared vision.

As this event is primarily a cultural celebration, the festival is seeking traditional tribal/cultural dancers, musicians, cuisine and craft. Handmade vendor items and expressions of art inspired by the beautiful Columbia Gorge are also welcome.

For more information, contact Margie Tuckta, event chair and tribal contact, at 541-553-4883. Or email: mtuckta@kahneeta.com

An alternative contact is Rebecca Gandy, event coordinator, ph. 503-753-4267. Email: rebgandy@comcast.net
