

New interpretive signs at museum

The Museum at Warm Springs has new interpretive signs around the museum grounds.

Most of the signs are along the trail that runs by the creek at the back of the museum. There is also one at the front with museum information, with space to advertise changing exhibits.

The interpretive signs were paid for through grants, said museum director Carol Leone. These included a Tribal Challenge Grant, a Bean Foundation Grant, and an Oregon Heritage Commission grant.

Chilkat Enterprise did the ground and footing work for the signs. In all, there are eight of the interpretive signs.

Herb Graybael, 1939-2011

Herb Graybael passed from this life on Sunday, August 7, 2011 at his home. He was 73.

Herb was born to Herbert Sr. and Gladys Graybael on October 23, 1939, in Sutherlin, Oregon.

The family moved to Madras, where Herb went to school and graduated from Madras Union High School in 1957. He began a career in building construction, often working along with his father.

Herb is survived by his spouse Earlynne (Squiemphen) Graybael. He raised and would soon legally adopt Lynne Graybael, and be survived in this relationship by her children.

He married Marie Smith (Calica) in 1958 and started a family in Madras, later moving to the Warm Springs community to begin raising their sons, Ricky, Brent and Tracy Graybael, his surviving sons. His survivors also include several grandchildren: Brent Jr., Gladys, Jasmine, Jaylen, Raeanne, Shaya, Sissaley, Skyler and Velma Graybael. His great-grand children are Andreaz, Bianca, Brent III, Daniel, Latrell, Trecee and Warrion.

In his early adulthood Herb was very active in the sport of drag racing and was a co-founders of the Madras Drag Strip. He enjoyed this sport with other founders that included Pete Courtney, Joe Quinn, Joe Enders, Calvin Quehapama and Denny Tingle.

His knowledge, talent and experience caught the attention of the tribes. In 1969, he was hired as the director of plant management, overseeing the tribes' buildings, facilities and infrastructure. His career with the tribes spanned over 44 years.

He was later promoted to the general manager of Public Utilities in 1999, after the retirement of Mr. Ed Manion. In that capacity, Herb was responsible for the planning, operations and maintenance of the tribes' major infrastructure, buildings, facilities and other physical assets.

No matter what the task or the hour of the day, Herb could always be depended upon to rally his staff to meet the challenge. One Christmas Eve he worked along with staff to repair a major break in the mainline that served the Warm Springs community. This type of loyalty and dedication earned him universal respect and appreciation of the community.

His greatest passion in life was outdoor sports and activities that included bird hunting, fishing, hunting big game, camping and supporting family activities.

His work touched the lives of virtually every person on and adjacent the reservation in some form or fashion on an almost daily basis. His care and willingness to help community residents was much appreciated and set a very high standard for how to respond to community interests, needs and priorities.

Seven tribes are subject to Oregon's criminal jurisdiction. Warm Springs, Umatilla, and Burns Paiute are exempt.

Once the tribes complete the requirements for SB412 participation, there is a two-year period until the 2013 legislation meets.

Full officer authority would then fall into place, and would stand for another two years.

"There's a sunset in July of 2015," Arnett said. "Sunset means the bill expires unless the legislation takes affirmative action to continue."

The legal team will prepare the materials needed for participation in SB412 and will bring it to Tribal Council for approval in September.
