Timber sale assessment released

The Resource Management Interdisciplinary Team has just released a draft project assessment for public review. The draft document provides an environmental analysis of the 2014 Pinhead Butte Timber Sale.

The Resource Management Interdisciplinary Team (RMIDT) also approved small project assessments for a fuels reduction project near Sidwalter Butte and for Casey Green Vending, which will include food concessions and fishing tackle sales near Sherars Falls.

The 2014 timber sale document was prepared by the Project Interdisciplinary Team to provide options for timber harvest in the Upper Warm Springs watershed.

Two alternatives were formulated and numerous logging methods were considered for this project, taking into account present resource conditions, forest health and public input.

The 2014 Pinhead Butte sale is expected to yield approximately 38 million board feet of timber.

The document is divided into sections explaining the purpose and need for action, resource-based indicators used to help the technical staff analyze and mitigate environmental impacts, and details of the alternatives.

There are maps showing the harvest blocks, quick reference tables to compare the alternatives, a list of measures needed to mitigate environmental consequences, and the Project Interdisciplinary Team's recommended alternative.

The goal of Alternative A is to continue current manage-

Activities such as hunting, recreation and cultural food gathering would continue as in the past. The only harvest proposed under Alternative A would be through conventional salvage operations. Alternative B is designed to harvest volume approximating the allowable cut for this planning area. The 2014 sale would include a treatment area of 2,045 acres.

The alternatives would have varying impacts on water, fish, wildlife, cultural, timber, range, soil and economic resources and there would also be changes to the transportation system.

For more information or copies of the document contact Bill Fish or Ryan Singleton in the Forestry Department. Tribal members have 30 days to comment on the proposed sale.
