Norman Allen Nathan

Norman Allen Nathan was born August 8, 1937 in Parker, Ariz., to Hazel Scott Nathan Seyler and Donald O. Nathan, joining his older brother Charles Nathan. The family then returned to Oregon where the parents worked in the shipyards in Portland.

By the time Norman was 12 he was working in the woods like a grown man. He would work all summer, saving his money, then rented an apartment in Madras and went to school like any normal child. He had after-school jobs such as stocking shelves in Earl's Market. He was befriended by the Babe Moore family. He worked in the block-making business at night, went to school during the day like most teenagers. The Moores soon took Norman into their lives and their home.

After graduating from Madras High School, Norman entered the U.S. Navy. This was the start of another life. He served honorably and attained the rank of Apprentice Chief Petty Officer. He played football for the North Island Skyraiders, was ABC officer aboard his ship and truly "saw the world."

Upon leaving the service Norman returned to Arizona as a "Native Sun" to enroll at the University of Arizona. He received a football scholarship as well as an academic scholarship. He received his degree and moved on to UCLA to study computer analysis.

Norm married and had two children while becoming active in the movie industry. He had played bit parts while in Oregon but was privileged to meet Jay Silverheels (Tonto) and the two of them co-founded the Los Angeles Indian Actor Workshop. He was active in the LA Inter-city Cultural Center Stage Presentations.

He had parts in movies: Pawnee in Little Big Man, McMasters in House Made of Dawn (this went to the Cannes Film Festival), and as Leb in Once Again in Love. He had parts in television too: Kodiac, Dance on the Burning Grass and Hawaii Five-0. He made stage appearance in Eagle Boy as well as various productions as an extra since 1953. During these years it became important for all actors to join the Screen Actors Guild. Norman held membership and was proud to still carry his SAG card.

Norman had many friends that will miss him but none so much as his family. He leaves behind his significant other, Renee Hogan Krstovich, brother Charles Nathan, half-sister Susan Nathan, half-brother James Nathan, granddaughter Sarah Evans, two great grandchildren, uncle Harvey Scott, aunt Alice Scott, many nieces and nephews. He was preceded in death by his parents, daughter Kim Nathan Evans and son Scott Allen Nathan.

All who met Norman Nathan recognized him as someone truly special and could never forget his beautiful smile.

You are invited to a Memorial Service on Tuesday, July 31 at 1 p.m. at Bel-Air Funeral Home and a Celebration of Norman's life immediately following at the Black Bear Diner Restaurant in Madras.

Interment of Norman's ashes will be at a later date at the Agency Cemetery in Warm Springs.
