drive will be at the Warm Springs Elementary and at Erickson's Thriftway parking lot starting at 8 a.m. on February 9. Please bring cans and bottles to support this cause!

Youth Art show reception

The Museum at Warm Springs this week will hold an opening reception for its Twentieth Annual Tribal Youth Art Exhibit.

The reception will be this Thursday, Jan. 24 from 5:30-7:30. Everyone is welcome to attend, as we honor the young artists.

Winter energy cost help available

The Tribal Social Services Program has received the Low Income Home Energy Assistance Program grant, and is taking applications for energy assistance.

You can contact their office at 541-553-3415 or 553-4952.

They have the applications and additional forms that are required. If you would like to have financial assistance with your energy bill, then stop in and pick up your forms and return them.

Council appoints new Appeals Court judges

The Tribal Council appointed five members to the Appeals Court of the Confederated Tribes of Warm Springs.

Council advertised the positions, and the applicants were then reviewed by committee, which then recommended their choices to Tribal Council.

The recommending committee included Robert Macy Sr., Lucinda Green, Arlene Boileau and Judge Dan Ahern. Lynn Davis, tribal administrative director, facilitated the process.

The Appeals Court will meet as necessary during the year. The chief judge of the Appeals Court, Doug Nash, will call three of the appeals judges to hear cases as needed.

Meeting early last week, Tribal Council first agreed that Nash would continue as chief judge of the Appeals Court.

Nash is a Nez Perce tribal member, practicing in Seattle. His law degree is from the University of New Mexico School of Law.

The five new appointees are Marielle Florendo, Thor Hoyte, Matt Johnson, Cynthia Starke, and Elmer Ward.

Florendo, who is Native American, is a member of the Oregon Bar, with an undergraduate degree from the University of Oregon, and law degree from Golden Gate University School of Law.

Thor Hoyte is a graduate of Lewis and Clark University, with a law degree from the University of Richmond School of Law.

Matt Johnson, Umatilla member, is a graduate of Lewis and Clark.

Cynthia Starke, Cherokee of Oklahoma, is a Harvard Law School graduate, with an under-graduate degree from the University of Maryland.

Elmer Ward, Yakama, is a graduate of UCLA School of Law. He lives in Madras.

Warm Springs Recreation will host the Sweetheart Sale on Valentine's Day from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Table space is limited ~ Call Carol Sabme at 553-3243 to reserve.
