Kahscuss Jackson-Williams
for CTWS-Tribal Council

"Our Tribes are entering a critical time in our history as we face declining revenues, high unemployment and the potential loss of important benefits such as per capita, senior pensions, and educational scholarships."

Now is the time for action. More than ever, we need educated and experienced business leadership to help reverse these trends."

I propose the following 8-point plan to reverse this decline and create a foundation for recovery:

8-Point Plan:

- Seize Low Hanging Fruit (Business Opportunities that are in place now)
- Initiate Smarter Business Investing
- Create A More Efficient Government That Add Jobs
- Turn enterprise dividends into a bondable form of payment to support infrastructure and business development
- A portion of every revenue dollar should be invested in infrastructure, business development and saved
- Enforce Tribal Member Hiring and Succession Preference
- Run the Tribal Government as a Business with high level accountability from all entities
- Invest in the Private Sector

Economic Development/ Jobs
As the Tribes face declining revenues and significant unemployment it is imperative that Tribal Council create new enterprises/businesses and work to develop a strong economy.

Integrity
Honesty, trust worthiness, strong ethics and transparency should be virtues of our leadership. This also means reasonable and sensible travel.

Vision
We must create a future that ensures the health of our people, our natural resources, our sovereignty and our economy.

Professional Experience
Masters Degree in Business Administration (MBA) and Tribal Economic Development Work Experience
