

Dancers get new Pendleton regalia

The Ayat Idait Tena Numu Dance Group has new regalia made with Pendleton fabric.

Noree Guerin and her shop, Noree's Plume, received a Washanaksha Culture grant through the Museum at Warm Springs.

She used the grant for the fabric, and donated her time to the project. For the sewing she had help from the Community Health Education Team, and other volunteers and family members of the youth dancers.

Geraldine Jim and Mona Jim provided the instruction for the sewing. Anita Davis, Evelyn Aguilar and Deanie Thompson, dance group director, helped with the project.

in the meeting room at the Family Resource Center.

The project took a few days to complete. For the boy dancers they made hidlers and chaps. For the girls they made leggings, moccasins and patlapa. All items were with Pendleton fabric.

Next will be a project for the N'chi Wanapam Canoe Family.

"We're not yet sure what that will be," said Noree. "I'm thinking possibly a water-proof drum case."

Response needed for outdoor market survey

The Warm Springs community will have an outdoor market on Fridays starting in late May or in June, and lasting until around September.

The Warm Springs Community Action Team is currently conducting a survey to fulfill an aspect of the grant that has made possible the outdoor farmers market.

The survey is being conducted this month, in July and in September. You must be a resident of the community to participate.

The survey questions are in regard to general eating habits and food purchases for you and your extended family. Please contact Rachel Nelles for information at 541-553-3148. Or reach by email at: Rachel@warm Springsprogress.net

Nelles is the Community Action Team healthy foods coordinator. The team received a grant from the USDA to assist with the outdoor market for this year and in 2014. Other groups on the reservation are contributing to the project.

The USDA grant requires the action to conduct a survey before the outdoor market, during the market, and afterward. "The purpose is to show that the grant is actually helping the community," Nelles said.

The Museum at Warm Springs is open daily 9 a.m.-5 p.m. Their current exhibit is Transformations: Warm Springs Tribal Enterprises. The exhibit is on display now through May 26.
