The walls are up for new gymnasium at the Warm Springs k-8 Academy. After finishing the walls, workers began on the large steel trusses of the roof of the gym, which is quickly taking shape.

Lamprey film premiere in Warm Springs

The film The Lost Fish will premiere in Warm Springs at the community center at 6 p.m. on Monday, Jan. 13. Admission will be free.

This half-hour film is produced jointly by the Columbia River Inter-Tribal Fish Commission and Freshwaters Illustrated.

The film explores the importance of lamprey to the Columbia Plateau tribes, how the decline of the lamprey has affected tribal cultural practics, and what the tribes are doing to make sure these ancient fish return to their native rivers and streams.

Following the screening will be a short question and answer period with tribal scientists working on lamprey restoration projects.

Regarding the film and restoration work, Freshwaters Illustrated states:

"One of the Pacific Northwest's oldest fish is disappearing, and along with it the sacred place it holds among many American Indian tribes.

For a species that has squeezed through most of the earth's great extinctions, the sharp declines in Pacific Lamprey populations are a signal of how severely we have changed river ecosystems." See the website thelostfish.org for more information.

Vocational Rehabilitation in Warm Springs has orientations every Monday at 3 p.m. at their office in the industrial park. Orientations are also held on Tuesdays at 3 p.m. at the Community Counseling Center.

Monday program welcomes students

Soaring Butterflies and Warrior Spirit gatherings are on Mondays at the Community Counseling Center prevention room. The meetings are after school for high school-age students, from 4:30-6:30 p.m.

Classes include culturally based teachings, crafts, fun learning activities and field trips. "Our goal is to share our unique culture as a form of prevention," said Sarah Wolfe, program coordinator.
