

Meeting on greenhouse location

The public is invited to a meeting on the future location of the tribes' cannabis greenhouse.

The meeting is set for Tuesday, March 8, at the Community Center social hall.

The meeting will be open throughout the day, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., to allow people time to stop by.

The membership approved the cannabis project in December 2015. The Warm Springs Ventures team and Tribal Council have been working toward opening the growing operation later this year.

Ventures has identified a company that will manufacture the greenhouse, and also has secured funding for the project.

A question is the location of the facility. Locations that have been mentioned include Lower Dry Creek; an area by the mill; the industrial park; or at one of the tribal farm areas.

On hand for the meeting on March 8 will be Ventures representatives, and tribal committee members, such as the Land Use Planning, and Culture and Heritage committees.

$500,000 grant for Housing projects

The Warm Springs Housing Authority is planning for more housing improvements this year.

Housing received an Indian Community Development Block Grant in the amount of $500,000 to complete some of the work.

Units to see improvements include Elk Loop apartments, and senior housing at Simnasho, said Scott Moses, Housing director.

Housing made similar renovations last year to the Deer Loop and Eagle Way apartments.
