Reservation tax credit bill

In the Oregon legislature Senate Bill 145 would encourage economic development on reservations. The bill would continue a tax credit program that first became law in 2001. Oregon Sen. Ted Ferrioli, R-John Day, is a sponsor of SB 145.

Oregon tribes can have a single "reservation enterprise zone." Alternatively, a tribe can enter into an agreement with a city, port or county government to directly create and co-sponsor any number of contiguous "reservation partnership zones" anywhere in Oregon.
