

Tribes hosting fish hatchery co-managers meeting

The Warm Springs National Fish Hatchery will be the focus of a two-day meeting between the tribes and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, co-managers of the facility.

This will be the first start-of-the-year summit between the parties since 2011.

The hatchery has seen some important changes over the past few years, allowing the facility again to rear the fish on-site. Over the past three years the fish have been taken to a facility at the Gorge, said Mary Bayer, hatchery manager.

In 2014 the summer heat required the removal of the fish, as the water temperature reached the mid 70s, while the fish like water about 50 degrees, Ms. Bayer said.

The following year the fish were moved in order to allow improvement work on the cooling system at the hatchery; then last year the work involved the electrical system serving the hatchery.

The upcoming meeting with U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service will be on Tuesday and Wednesday, February 6-

7. Some discussion will happen at Kah-Nee-Ta, with a tour of the hatchery.

Roy Elicker, assistant regional director of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, will be on hand.

Representing the tribes will be the Tribal Council, and Branch of Natural Resources general manager Bobby Brunoe.
