

Elder, Native speaker receiving Lifetime Achievement

Dr. Virginia Beavert, age 98, is an author, and Native speaker of the Sahaptin. She is a teacher at the University of Oregon Northwest Indian Language Institute.

For decades now, Dr. Beavert has been a key figure in teaching and preserving the Native language.

Besides her position with the University of Oregon Native language program—where she also holds a Doctorate in Linguistics—Dr. Beavert served as Scholar in Residence of Sahaptin Language and Culture at Heritage University in Toppenish.

She is the author of The Gift of Knowledge Tnúwít Atawish Nch'inch'imami, A Reflection on Sahaptin Ways, a story of her amazing life.

A woman of great courage and knowledge, Dr. Beavert "Tuxámshish" will receive the Museum at Warm Springs Lifetime Achievement Award at the Huckleberry Harvest dinner.

A Yakama Nation member, Dr. Beavert wishes to attend in person. Her fellow staff at the university are helping coordinate the trip to Portland.

Dr. Virginia Beavert, soon to receive the Museum at Warm Springs Lifetime Achievement Award.

...She was born in a bear cave in the Blue Mountains, raised in a traditional Indian-only speaking household.

The Gift of Knowledge

In her book The Gift of Knowledge, Dr. Beavert recalls riding with her grandmother on horseback over the plains of Zillah early in the twentieth century, hunting for herbs and roots.

She learned the traditions of the Waashat religion from her great-grandmother and her mother, who lived to be 103 years old. Amazingly, her great-grandmother lived to be 120.

From her grandmother and great-grandmother, Dr. Beavert learned the medicinal properties of herbs from her great-great-grandmother, who also imparted tribal legends along with herbal lore. In a review of the book are comments:

She was born in a bear cave in the Blue Mountains, raised in a traditional Indian-only speaking household.

Later she served as an Air Force wireless radio operator at a B-29 bomber base during the Second World War.

Dr. Beavert has spent her adult life tirelessly retrieving, preserving, and sharing Sahaptin knowledge.

She began working in her Native language at the age of 12 after meeting linguist Melville Jacobs.

Since then she has collaborated with some of the most accomplished linguists and anthropologists.

Her passion for and interest in the welfare of her younger readers reverberates throughout every page of The Gift of Knowledge, in which her stated purpose is to record the lifeways taught to her by her family.

The museum Lifetime Achievement Award will by no means be Dr. Beavert has received:

She is a recipient of the Washington Governor's Heritage Award; Central Washington University Alumna of the Year; recipient of the Ken Hale prize of the Society for the Study of the Indigenous Languages of the Americas; and Distinguished Service Award, University of Oregon.

June exhibit at museum

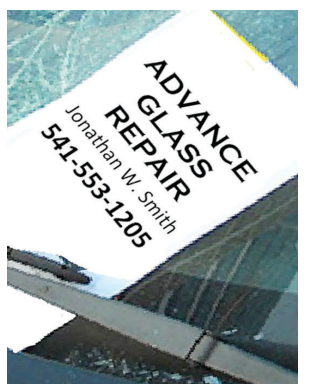

The Museum at Warm Springs will examine the Indian Boarding School experience with a new exhibit opening this month.

The exhibit is Resilience: The Boarding School Experience of Warm Springs and beyond. Boarding Schools have had lasting impacts—both good and not so good—for many Native Americans.

With Resilience you will see and hear first hand observations from some who have lived the boarding school experience.

You will not want to miss this meaningful, candid account of Boarding Schools, then and now.

Resilience opens on June 27.

Notice of Public Hearing

The Confederated Tribes of Warm Springs Reservation of Oregon.

Hearing: June 12, 2019 at 1 p.m. Warm Springs Credit Enterprise Conference Room, 1236 Scouts Drive, Warm Springs, OR 97761.

A public hearing will be held on Wednesday, June 12, 2019, at 1 p.m. at the Warm Springs Credit Enterprise Conference Room, 1236 Scouts Drive, Warm Springs, Oregon 97761 for the purpose of hearing public comment relating to the issuance by The Confederated Tribes of the Warm Springs Reservation of Oregon (the "CTWS" or "Tribe"), pursuant to a plan of finance, of one or more series of its Hydroelectric Revenue Refunding Bonds (the "Revenue Bonds") in an aggregate principal amount not exceeding $25,000,000.

Proceeds of the Revenue Bonds will be used to refinance all or a portion of the Tribe's outstanding Hydroelectric Revenue Bonds, Series 2009B (Pelton Round Butte Project) (Tribal Economic Development Bonds—Tax-Exempt Fixed Rate) issued in the aggregate principal amount of $22,910,000 (the "2009 Bonds").

The 2009 Bonds were issued for the purpose of paying capital costs of the Tribe's undivided interest in environmental enhancements of the Pelton Round Butte Hydroelectric Facility, Federal Energy Regulatory Commission ("FERC") Project No. 2030, which enhancements included the construction of a Selective Water Withdrawal Facility for fish enhancement (the Tribe's interest, the "Fish Enhancement Project") and improvements to the Indian Park Campground (the Tribe's interest, the "Campground") (the Fish Enhancement Project and the Campground, collectively the "Projects").

The Fish Enhancement Project is located on the Lake Billy Chinook reservoir upstream of the Round Butte Powerhouse (between River Miles 100 and 120 on the Deschutes River, near Madras, in Jefferson County in central Oregon).

The Campground known as "Indian Park" is located on the west shore of Lake Simtustus, approximately two miles north of the Round Butte Powerhouse off BIA Road 242.

The Tribe is the owner of each of the Projects.

Section 147(f) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (the "Code"), requires that qualified private activity bonds, such as the tax-exempt series of the Revenue Bonds, be approved by the applicable elected representative of the governmental unit issuing such bonds. The Hearing Officer will consider the information obtained at the public hearing and submit a Hearing Officer's Report to the Tribal Council of the CTWS, as the applicable governmental body, that must approve of the issuance of the Revenue Bonds pursuant to Section 147(f) of the Code.

The principal of, premium, if any, and interest on the Revenue Bonds shall be special, limited revenue obligations payable solely and only from the revenues of the Tribe pledged to the payment of the Revenue Bonds and shall not constitute or create a general obligation of the Tribe or a charge against the general credit of the Tribe.

The purpose of the public hearing will be to provide a reasonable opportunity for members of the public to express their views, orally or in writing, regarding the issuance of the Revenue Bonds and the uses and purposes of the proceeds of the Revenue Bonds. The hearing will be conducted in a manner that provides a reasonable opportunity for persons with differing views to be heard on the question of the issuance of the Revenue Bonds. Written comments may be delivered at the public hearing or mailed to the Tribe at the following address:
