Recent wolf count numbers

The main territory of the White River wolf pack is the Warm Springs Reservation. Branch of Natural Resources wildlife monitors saw the first wolf of the pack a few years ago, followed by the sighting of a mate. Some of these observation were by remote camera, and some were seen by the wildlife team.

Mid last year Natural Resources reported the pair had produced six wolf pups. A recent state count of the Oregon wolf population is at 158. Five of these are members of the White River pack.

The Spilyay Tymoo first published in 1976 by the Confederated Tribes of Warm Springs.

The Spilyay is mailed free of charge to tribal members, on and off the reservation.

The Spilyay is also available online at wsnews.org
