

Authorities investigate house fire

Warm Springs Police, the FBI and State Fire Marshal this week are investigating a weekend house fire on Foster Street that left two people hospitalized, one in critical condition. As of Tuesday the case was still under investigation.

When Warm Springs Police responded to the fire, one evening over the weekend, officers had to enter the burning building to assist the residents inside, said Carmen Smith, Public Safety general manager.

The four people inside and the officers made it out, though two were immediately taken to the hospital, where they were still being care for this week. Anyone with information should contact the Warm Springs Police Department, 541-553-1171.

Neighborhoods of the reservation have otherwise been fairly quiet, Mr. Smith reported this week to Tribal Council. "This is a good thing because it means people are staying home," he said.

Public Safety continues to monitor its staff, regularly taking temperatures of people on duty, who are all wearing protective masks and gloves, Mr. Smith said.

By order of the Twenty-Eighth Tribal Council of the Confederated Tribes of Warm Springs, the following provisions apply on the reservation:

All citizens on the reservation are to wear a face covering mask while in public and in public places, where social distancing of six feet or greater cannot be maintained.

Following a test result of negative or positive, all citizens of the reservation and employees working within the boundaries are to self-isolate and quarantine as directed by healthcare professionals. Essential employees and first-responders who have tested with a negative result will have additional guidance about returning to work.

211 Bright Wood layoffs

Bright Wood Corp., where a number of tribal members have worked and work, has laid off more than 200 workers this spring amid a sharp downturn in customer demand triggered by the coronavirus pandemic.

The wood products producer notified state employment officials last week of layoffs that started in March and finished in early May.

The cutbacks eliminated 211 employees from factories in Madras and Redmond that previously employed 1,000 people.

Bright Wood, based in Madras, makes wood components for windows and doors, and also has facilities in Prineville and New Zealand. The company indicated it plans to recall its workers if the economy recovers.

Oregon has recorded close to 400,000 jobless claims since the coronavirus outbreak hit in March.

Hotels, restaurants, bars and health care provider services represented the largest share of initial cuts, reflecting direct impacts from Oregon's stay-home order and the cutbacks in medical services.
