Many on the reservation saw and heard the F-15 health workers salute flyover in May. The Oregon National Guard jets flew over the Warm Springs Clinic on their way from St. Charles in Bend and Madras, before heading back to their base in Portland.

In May the jets flew over dozens of hospitals across the state. This was a joint effort by Oregon's 173rd Fighter Wing in Klamath Falls, and 142nd Wing at the Portland International Airport.
