

Picnic Marks the End of Summer School

Twenty-one students successfully completed the Title IV Indian Education Summer School. The students are; Billy Bobb, Steven Bobb, Shawn Carl, Angie Childers, Debby Childers, Michael Childers, Doug Colton, Mike Colton, Laura Lambert, Robbie Lambert, Gregg Leno, Daniele Norwest, Johnny Norwest, La Donna Norwest, Lonnie Norwest, Derek Olson, Clayton Sump, Ellie Sump, Lety Tinoco, Dennis Van Dyke and Matt White.

Academic and culturally related subjects were the focal point of the six week program.

Kah-nee-ta, Deer Park, The Marine Science Center, Lincoln County Museum, Portland Art Museum, and the "Whale", (a van run by the Portland Public Schools Title IV Indian Education Program.) were visited by the students.

A potluck picnic honoring the students and their parents will be held Sunday August 5th at 11:30 A.M. at Buell Park. Students receiving outstanding citizenship awards are Ellie Sump, Lety Tinoco, Billy Bobb, and Michael Childers.

Television Show to be Aired August 3

The Summer School staff and four students, Johnny Norwest, Billy Bobb, Lety Tinoco and Debby Childers traveled to Salem to be guests on "Inter-view" a television program hosted by Linda Posell.

The program will be aired August 3rd at 4:30 P.M. on KVDO, Channel 3.

"Real Indians"

Nora Kimsey, Clara Riggs, Harriet Leno, Nick Leno, Marvin Kimsey, Lety Tinoco, Michaelle Lambert and Stella Fischer made a presentation for the children at Camp Tapawinga in Black Rock.

Clara spoke on the days of her childhood, Nick wore a head-dress and played the drum, Lety read an Indian legend and Stella Fischer lead the children in a Round Dance.

The children were in a state of awe when upon returning to camp they found that "real Indians" had made themselves at home.
