Donna Stronach's business "scents" pays off

By Tracy Olson

People have told Donna Stronach that she's got good scents. And it appears she's got good business sense, too. When I last interviewed Donna two years ago, her business, Making Memories Fragrances by Donna Marie, was alive and well. She now owns one of Small Business Development's more successful home-based businesses.

Donna operates from her home in Keizer, Ore., and has clients from Portland to Eugene. She can create a unique fragrance all your own, or simulate designer fragrances for a more economical price than the department stores.

She offers a complete line of skin and hair care products, as well.

Her newest line of skin care is an alpha hydroxy formula.

"Alpha hydroxy is very popular now," said Donna. "It gently exfoliates the skin, and contributes to its overall health by letting moisture in."

She has re-creations of all the most popular perfumes, and has recently developed versions of Beautiful, Wings, Tribu, Eternity for Men, Dune, and Escape. Just ask, she can probably do it!

She is also working on a line that will feature scents of the earth's natural elements.

Donna carries a variety of other gifts. "The Indian Berry potpourri continues to be very popular," she said.

Donna Stronach

Job service for vets available

Attention to all veterans! Did you know that the Oregon Employment Department regularly sends a representative to the Depot in Grand Ronde to help veterans find work?

John Hudanish, a veterans' representative based at the department's office in McMinnville, visits Grand Ronde every second and fourth Wednesday each month from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. He has a lap-top computer which lets him connect with the Oregon Job Bank in Salem.

This technology enables John to offer job referrals to just about any location in Oregon. It also permits him to register applicants for work, write job orders, and match job-seekers with the jobs they are interested in. John can also discuss a broad range of state and federal benefits available for qualified veterans.

He also posts job openings at the Community Center and the Depot. John Hudanish is a Vietnam veteran, and wants to help others find work. This service is free of charge.

Preschoolers visit Dental Clinic

On Jan. 18 the Dental clinic had some very special visitors...the tribal preschoolers, Twasum-Chako Learning Center!

The kids got to "ride" in the dentist's chair, meet "Bucky" and "Ally" our dental friends, took turns brushing and rinsing their teeth! Each child received a magic toothbrush and a prize for coming to the Dental Clinic.
