

Keep your children in one piece

Children are fragile. When on the go, proper safety precautions must be taken or tragedies can result. The number of transportation-related injuries and fatalities that might have been prevented just in one recent year are staggering.

- ◆ Motor vehicle crashes were the leading cause of death for children ages 5 through 15.
- ◆ More than 360,000 children were injured and at least another 3,200 were killed in transportation accidents.
- ◆ More than 250 lives would have been saved had children been properly secured in safety seats.
- ◆ One-fourth of the traffic fatalities of those under age 16 were pedestrians, many not observing crossing rules of the road.
- ◆ More than one-third of the bicyclists killed were between the age 5 and 15.
- ◆ Life jackets would have saved the lives of approximately three dozen children that died from recreational boat drownings.

Unfortunately, the long list of children killed or injured while travelling goes on and on. Many of these tragedies would have been avoided if those children and their parents had observed proper safety measures. Teach your child safety and you'll not only make the odds swing in your favor, you'll also give yourself some peace of mind.

10 simple steps for kids on the go

1. Safety belts should always be buckled, whether the child is in a motor vehicle or on an airplane.
2. Young people should always be properly secured in child safety seats.
3. Children on bikes should always wear helmets.
4. Children should stop at the curb, look left, right, and left again before crossing the road. At intersections, pay special attention to turning vehicles.
5. Children should never play on or near railroad tracks.
6. Children should always wear life jackets when boating or around water.
7. Children should always be visible when walking or biking. They should wear light, brightly-colored clothing. At night, they should wear markers that reflect light.
8. When riding on an escalator, children should stand facing forward, always hold the handrail and never touch the sides or sit on the stairs.
9. No one, especially a child, should ever ride in the bed of a pick-up truck.
10. Children should never play near a subway platform edge or by the curb at a bus stop.

Campbell's Labels for Education program has been helping schools for over 23 years. In these times of tight budgets, the program, sponsored by the Campbell Soup Company, has proven itself as an invaluable aid to education. It helps by providing the educational "extras" that so enhance each child's learning experience.

Thanks to Campbell's, Twah Sunchako Learning Center can obtain much needed educational and athletic equipment free of charge. However, we need your help. Our goal is to collect 4,590 labels to earn a Town and Country Railplay set, a wood train on a wooden track.

We are asking everyone in our community to help by saving the labels and proofs from this list of Campbell's products. You may give them to the Twah Sunchako Learning Center, or drop them off at the Youth Education Office during business hours. We will be collecting labels through March 14. Please join us in this worthwhile effort. Thank you in advance for your support and cooperation.
