Unique gifts by T & T Crafts

Porterville, California
(559) 784-5647

Looking for a special gift for someone? T & T Crafts, a tribal home-based business, may have what you are looking for. Owned by tribal member SAMANTHA TUCKER and her husband, Harold, T & T makes unique plaster gift items at a very low cost. Some of the items they make are planters, pencil holders, candle sticks, trash cans, and nite lites. Their most popular design is planters shaped to look like tree stumps. They can also make trash cans that look like tree stumps. They can take special orders to fill your specifications.

"I have been making plaster castings and painting my crafts for 45 years," said Harold Tucker, 59. "We don't charge so much that people can't afford to buy our crafts, and we sell out of our house."

Samantha Tucker added that although the crafting is definitely her husband's talent, she helps finish the pieces and paints them, too.

The couple, who live in Porterville, California, will take phone or FAX orders and ship pieces to you directly.

Their prices start at $5 and go up from there. Contact T & T Crafts at (559) 784-5647.

Turn your Native arts and crafts hobby into a business

The Small Business Development department is looking for people who are interested in Native American arts and crafts to participate in the Venture Out Program. If you've ever thought of turning your Native American arts and crafts hobby into an income generating business, but thought that you alone couldn't possibly provide enough inventory to supply your own shop, then this is an opportunity for you to collaborate with others who share this same dream. The SBD department is looking into securing retail space locally from which Native American arts and crafts can be sold. Call SBD at 879-2492.
